Colma Area "Shrinking"

CEMETERY CITY COUNCIL CUTS OFF 25% OF TOTAL LAND AREA WEDNESDAY

Colma Possibly Only California City That Is Losing Population, Land

Like Alice who swallowed a magic potion to become smaller, the city of Colma is doing its best to shrink in area and population . . . at least topside.

Although the city council Wednesday didn't follow the dramatic method of Alice in Wonderland, they passed a resolution which had the same effect. The resolution was the first step in granting the Crocker Estate a "friendly divorce" of 393 acres from the east-north secion of Colma.

All Agree

When Mayor Jack Price called for a vote, all the councilmen approved the action which amounted to cutting down the size of Colma by one-quarter. The action must now go before the county board of supervisors who will call a public hearing, to be followed by a special election for decorporation of the property.

No one expects there will be any objection to the "divorce," so to all intents and purposes it was granted Wednesday.

The Colma city council's action reverts to a master zoning ordinace passed last year. Under the ordinance no business, other than those conected with the cemeteries, can expect to find a site in Colma. The ordinance also virtually makes it impossible for a small home builder to work in Colma.

Future Plans

With this in view, plus future plans for developmen of some 4,000 acres east of Colma and Daly City, the Crocker Estate requested its property be disincorporated.

Represented by Alex Young and Attorney C. Coolidge Kreis, the Crocker Estate presented a petition signed by 23 Colma residents at the council meeting. This was 12 more signatures than required for such action.

The council bowed to what appeared to be a popular move, and granted the Crocker Estate's wish.

This move, coupled with the fact that Colma's population declined almost a quarter during the past decade (from 354 to 262), possibly makes the San Mateo community the only one in California that can boast of shrinkage instead of growth.

No Worry

However, this isn't worrying the Colma residents. They point out that the town's economy is based on the "population" underground, and has nothing to do with the topside residents. As long as the cemetery business remains, they ned not worry about either a depletion of land area or population.

KLASSEN RESIGNS AS CITY ENGINEER

Edwin Smith Named To Vacant Post As Of January 16

Robert A. Klassen, city engineer since 1920, handed in his resignation to the city council Monday evening.

The council immediately named Edwin H. Smith, conculting engineer for several other Peninsula cities, as the new city engineer.

Overwork, and what he termed as "too many irons in the fire" were the reasons Klassen gave for his retirement. With his office in Redwood City, Klassen serves four other Peninsula communities.

Resignation

His resignation will become effective January 16, at which time Smith will take over any new projects. Works begun by Klassen will be finished by him he told the council.

A graduate of Stanford, Smith has his offices in Redwood City. He has acted as consulting engineer to San Carlos, Atherton, Menlo Park, and now Daly City. His is a familiar figure around city hall, as over the past years he has aided Klassen in such projects as the Concordia Improvement District.

In accepting Klassen's resignation, Mayor Paul Green thanked him on behalf of the city and the council for work he has done here over the past 30 years.

"Almost every public building, street, and stone layed in Daly City was under your direction," Mayor Green said.

Other Business

Klassen's resignation was the principal item on the agenda of Monday night's city council meetwhich also included:

1. Passing civil service board of review lists for service man, street man, water department. The council called for a new civil service exam for the water department, as all the men on the old list have gone into the newly organized fire department.

2. The Fire Commission was disbanded, and the five firemen to man the full time department were approved and appointed by the council. The department starts operation January 16.

Gas Job

3. The Hancock Oil Co., with a bid of 18.3 cents was awarded the city gasoline contract for 1951.

4. Ralph Larson & Son were granted a progress payment of $11,655 on the War Memorial Building.

5. An agreement between the city and the Division of Highways was approved by which the Division will pay $2,000 a year for the maintenance of Highway No. 101 . . . (Mission street).

6. Dr. Gobar was granted a change of zoning for his Wellington street office from R-1 to C-1. The change of zoning for the new post office site on Bepler and Mission circle was held up until A. R. Haskins presents the city with full plans for the proposed new post office building.

340 COUNTY MEN FACE POSSIBLE DRAFT CALL

Pre-induction examinations for 340 San Mateo County men will be given during January to meet the expected county quota of nearly 200 men for February.

Of these, 100 north county men (including Daly City) will take examinations on January 17. Another 67 will be examined January 24.

Censorship Kills

Although we are taking one h—— of a beating in Korea, the Eighth Army brass evidently is refusing to face facts.

That is the indication of a directive from Army Headquarters in Japan this week which now puts all United Nations newsmen under full military censorship. The avowed purpose of clamping down the lid on news is to hide military movements from the enemy.

No one will question the wisdom of reporting facts which will not injure troops in the field. Reporters, both in Korea and during World War II, were well aware of this truth and carried on voluntary censorship. In very few, if any cases was this type of censorship violated.

Meet Your City Officials

Anthony J. Gaggero -- A Councilman Who Does His Best To Serve The People

(Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of word portraits of the men who serve you in your city government.)

Anthony J. Gaggero, Daly City councilman, with a political boxscore of three wins and one defeat, is a singular portrait of what the average politician is not, either in appearance or action.

Blessed with a shock of pitch black hair, Gaggero belies his 42-years, a good number of which have been spent in politics and the business world. This physicial attribute is the wonder of all, including his other four fellows on the city council who are either grey or losing what hair they once could claim.

Whether it was to greet the New Year, or add to his appearance, Gaggero a few weeks ago grew a mustache. This hastily went the way of all beards subjected to a razor, but not before his friends and other councilmen were able to ascertain that it, too, cropped out a jet black.

Conservative

A conservative dresser, Gaggero tends to blue suits and quiet neckties. His speech is mild and rarely fast or excited. Even in the toughest spots where he has been queired from the floor of the council chambers by irrate citizens, Gaggero is able to keep his temper and reply in an understanding, patient tone of voice.

Possibly his ability to check any outward signs of temper plus a good natured smile has won him more friends than the majority of politicians. Even more strange is the fact that these friends are not confined to one side of the political fence. They may vote against him, but the next day they are shaking his hand or taking their business to his insurance office at 7377 Mission street.

Some Brains

A modest man, Gaggero is fond of explaining that he hasn't a grey hair, because "it takes brains to worry, and I haven't got any."

His position, both in the political and business life of Daly City and San Mateo county, attests to the obvious fallacy of this self judgment. In fact, he has overcome the handicap of a youthful mistake in the values of education only through intelligence and diligence.

Native Son

Born in Colma, Gaggero attended the Jefferson elementary school.

"By the time I had finished grade school, I was certain that I knew it all," he explained, "I asked

MURDER OR BODY SNATCHING?

Ghoul Opens Fresh Colma Grave

Was it murder, or an attempt to secure a body?

That's the question police are attempting to answer today after the first case of grave tampering in the history of the Colma cemeteries was reported last Friday.

Cemetery gravediggers came upon the mystery Friday when the foreman of a grave-digging crew noticed a new grave had been disturbed. They saw earth had been removed from the grave, replaced, and the depression covered with floral pieces.

Double Site

Colma Police Chief Joseph Ryan was called, and he in turn summoned Deputy Sheriffs Frank Marlowe and Milton Minehan.

The tampered grave was a double site. That is, one casket is placed upon the other in heavy concrete vaults weighing 300 to 400 pounds.

The lower grave was the resting place of Frank Buitenkamp, 70-year-old San Francisco carpenter who was buried at the Cypress Lawn Cemetery last Wednesday. The upper grave was vacant.

Motives Questioned

Evidently, the ghouls who had dug up the grave, hit the top valut, moved the lid slightly, saw it was empty, and then filled it in with earth. The lower grave was not touched.

Officers believe the top vault was too heavy to allow the grave tamperers to get to Buitenkamp's body.

Police are mystified as to the motives of the attempt. They believe either someone was trying to hide a body, but gave up when they discovered that the top vault would be disturbed at some later date for another burial; or were seeking to find a body.

No other graves in the area have been touched, police say

New District Formed To Aid Construction Of Treatment Unit

Plant Cost Estimated At Near $450,000; Residents Asked To Approve In Fall '51

Turning their backs on the ocean as a method of disposing of sewage, Daly City councilmen Monday night approved a North San Mateo Sanitation District, and took the first step towards building a sewage treatment plant.

The importance of this move to the average householder will be reflected sometime this fall when he will be asked to approve a bond issue to build the plant. Ernest Wilson, consulting lawyer for Daly City and San Mateo County on the sewage problem, estimated the cost of the sewage treatment unit will be about $450,000.

"This is only a rough estimate, and can not be definite until engineers have completed plans for the sewage unit," Wilson said.

Surprise Visit

Wilson paid a surprise, last minute visit to the council Monday evening so as to have the city approve the sanitation district . . . a necessary move before the county board of supervisors meets to set up the district next Monday.

Under the new district, all of unincorporated Colma, including Broadmoor, Daly City and Westlake will be included. Residents of this district will share in the cost of building and maintaining a sewage treatment plant, as well as the cost of the present system.

Represented

The district probably will be operated by two men from the Daly City council and one from the board of supervisors representing the unincorporated area.

This will mean the abandonment of the Colma Sewer Maintenance District which has served a section of Broadmoor and Daly City. The $26,378 now in this district will be turned over to the new district for present maintenance and toward the sewage treatment plant.

Divorced of technicality, the city council's move Monday evening was to comply with a recent state order which forbids municipalities to dump raw sewage into the ocean.

BUILDING RECORD SET HERE IN 1950

644 New Homes Built In Daly City Area... 474 Go Up In Westlake

An all time record for building was established in Daly City during 1950 with the issuance of 779 construction permits at a total value of $7,901,970.

George Hopman, building inspector, noted that the previous record was set in 1949 when the total value of permits was $5,599,507.

"With the present war situation, last year's record will probably stand on the books for many years to come," Hopman said. "Over the past two months we've seen a steady decline in building which is bound to continue through 1951."

Doelger Builds

There were 644 new homes built here last year at a total value of $5,452,562. The majority of these, 474, were built by the Henry Doelger Builders Inc. in Westlake.

Another big item during 1950 was the construction of 70 apartments (499 units) at a value of $1,959,350. Again, Westlake accounted for the majority of this construction as 64 of the apartments were built in that area.

The largest single builder, outside of Doelger, was the William Lagomarsino Co. which accounted for 79 homes built here.

The single biggest job was the War Memorial building (to be completed later this year). Cost of construction is $298,623.

There were six other commercial buildings erected at a total cost of $89,200. Alterations on 57 structures was valued at a total of $59,235, while the construction of the new Grace Presbyterian Church accounted for $42,000 of the grand total.

JS BOULEVARD TO BE RESURFACED

$48,228 Contract Let For Black Topping One Mile Of Road

Junipero Serra boulevard, between the San Francisco line and Edgemar road in Colma, will soon have a new "face."

The one mile stretch of highway will be black topped within the next 30 days, C. H. Purcell, public works director in Sacramento, said today.

A $48,228 expenditure for the work was approved by Purcell this week. The money is to go to the Joint Highway District No. 10.

The contract for the job has been awarded the Lowrie Paving Company of San Francisco.

This is part of the general improvement program of the highway in Daly City. Also included is the completed Westlake overpass and the signals and channelization at Junipero Serra and Highway No. 1 intersection.

COUNTY RECORDER BUSINESS INCREASES

Last year business in the County Recorder's office was up 30 per cent over 1949, Ruth Kirste, county recorder, said today.

There were 79,349 papers handled by the office, bringing in fees of $216,962. This compares with 59,610 papers at $157,134 for 1949.

Twin Thefts

Two Stores Hit Monday Evening

Burglars struck twice here Monday evening, robbing two stores that were not more than 300 feet apart.

Victims of the twin robberies were Al's Market, 7369 Mission, where 210 cartons of cigarettes, 18 cans of salad oil and 60 cans of black peper were hoisted; Glen Store, 7380 Mission, a five-and-ten-cent store where $30.50 aws taken from the cash register.

Both burglaries were discovered early Tuesday morning as officers were making their routine rounds checking locked doors.

Door Unlocked

At Al's Market, police found the door unlocked. The burglar had evidently broken in a side window, looted the store, and taken his haul out the back dor. Time of this theft was placed between 8 p.m. when manager Armando Chelone closed, and 1 a.m. when police discovered the open door.

Just three hours later, at 4 a.m., officers found that the padlock had been forced off the basement door of Glen Store, just across the street from Al's Market. The thieves had ransacked the small office in the rear, found nothing, gone to the cash register and taken the $30.50.

Police Chief W. W. Sunderland said until further investigation was completed it was impossible to say whether the two thefts had been committed by the same burglar or burglars.

PUBLIC APATHY IS RESPONSIBLE

Thousands of young Americans are dying in Korea for the sake of Democracy and probably thousands more will also die there before the bloody struggle is ended. At home an apathetic public (just finished with city, county, state and federal elections in 1950) starts the New Year in a "smog" of rosy hopes and stark fears for the future.

In city, county, state and federal governments new faces appear among the old; duly elected and, of course, ready to draw their salaries at the first "drop of the hat." But, don't forget that these public officials are paid by you. Your taxes, both direct and indirect, furnish the necessary funds from which these public servants receive their wages. And, if you stopped their wages, they would quit work just the same as if they worked somewhere else and didn't get paid.

Now, do YOU know these men and women working for you? Do you know anything of their private lives, how they get along with others, their ideals? If you don't, it is about time you do. Check them at every opportunity and see if they are doing what you, the boss, elect and pay them to do.

Apathy is the greatest threat to democracy. To "let George do it" is probably the easiest way out we know of but—it doesn't solve any great problems. You yourself should watch, even criticize, the actions of your public servants. And, if they aren't, in your judgment, doing their jobs capably—tell 'em so. On the other hand, if they are doing a good job—tell 'em about that, too!

NEUTRALIZATION OF FORMOSA—A study of the map of the Far East, in the light of Communist methods of operation and the lessons of World War II, will show the importance of the decision to neutralize Formosa. Airfields on that island are only 400 miles from targets on Okinawa, a little farther from targets in the Philippines, and less than 800 miles from targets in Japan. Along with these points and Indo-China, Formosa might be in the first line of defense against Communist aggression in the Far East. If the Communists should seize Formosa now, they would not only break that line but also pave the way to conquest of the other points. Remembering the long years of costly, bloody island-hopping in World War II, it is easy to picture the hard road back that the forces of freedom would face.

Formosa is separated from the mainland of China by a strait from 20 to 200 miles wide. An island about 235 miles long and from 70 to 90 miles wide, it is about as large as Massachusetts and Connecticut combined and has a population of 7,000,000.

More About

Anthony J. Gaggero -- Councilman

my dad for a job on the ranch. I got it."

Six months after hard labor, the light as to the value of education dawned on Gaggero. He soon shook the dirt of the ranch off his feet, and made a straight line to a San Francisco business school. There, for 18 long months, he studied the ins and outs of bookkeeping and secretarial work. When he had completed the course Gaggero obtained a job as stenographer to a national auto battery concern. Shortly afterwards he was promoted to the advertising department.

Big Turn

The real turn in his life came three years later when a broker friend advised him to get into some other line of work. "I asked him what," Gaggero recalls, "and he told me insurance."

Insurance appealed to the young Colma business man, and November 20, 1930, he opened his present office on Mission street.

Despite his one way trip from ranch work to insurance, Gaggero still takes an active part in farming. Several years ago he and George Ferreti purchased a seven acre ranch near Los Gatos. There, on weekends, Gaggero farms, and is in the process of building a small home. He does all his own work.

Politics

It was six years after he had opened his insurance office that Gaggero took a turn at politics. It was a left turn into the wrong lane, and by 300 votes he was defeated for the position of city councilman.

"I'm not sure how I first got into politics. My friends talked me into it, I guess," Gaggero noted. "It is hard to say why any man gets tangled up with political work."

Meanwhile, Gaggero married. He now resides at 6 Cavour street, and has three children: Robert, 14; Elaine, 13; and Joyce, 5. All his children are attending the same school that the "old man" graduated from many years ago. Gaggero doesn't believe that any of his former teachers are now educating his children.

Big Year

When 1942 rolled around, Gaggero decided to take another turn at politics. To no one's surprise he was elected by a large majority, and took over the mayor's gavel. Since his early victory he has been returned to office twice. He gave up the mayor's job to Mel Battye in 1946, regained it in 1948, and then turned over the office to Paul Green early in 1949.

Friends suspect that Gaggero took a back seat on the mayor's job for a possible front seat on the county board of supervisors. Although he will admit he's "thinking about the job," Gaggero won't say whether or not he will run for county supervisor in 1952.

Election Sure

Those in the supposed know say that Gaggero, if he runs, probably will be elected. For, over the past years the affable Daly City councilman has also made himself a name throughout the county. He is now president of the San Mateo County Fair Association, and it has been largely through his efforts that the fiesta has grown bigger and better each year. He is also vice-chairman of the San Mateo County Civil Service Commission and a director of the Children's Health in San Mateo.

All in all these jobs don't leave him much time for his favorite hobby . . . fishing. "I have almost forgotten what a fish looks like off a dinner plate," Gaggero said.

Membership

During the years he has also made time for an active membership in the Daly City Fire Department. "While I don't chase many fires these days, I still consider myself a good member of Company No. 6." Gaggero has always taken an interest in the department, and is past president of the Veteran Firemen's Association.

Members of the Colma Vista Grande Aerie, FOE, the Druids and the Foresters of America are all on excellent terms with Gaggero, as he has been a member of these organizations for a good many years.

Westlake

Asked what he considers the best thing he ever did, or helped to do for the city, Gaggero is quick to reply: "The annexation of Westlake. That will always stand as a turning point in city history. With that annexation we rose from a small town to a large community."

As to the future of Daly City, Gaggero is anxious to see a better and larger water department. He is quick to point out that the present department is doing an excellent job, but in the light of a growing population its service may well have to be doubled over the next decade.

And what does this successful politician have to say to young men interested in entering the field? "Stay out, young man, stay out."

Daly City can count itself fortunate that Gaggero didn't follow his own advice.

Sewage Plant Cost

palities from using the ocean as a dumping ground for sewage.

Academic Problem

Consequently, while the people will be asked to approve a bond issue for a sewage treatment plant their vote will be purely academic. Should they refuse, the city would have to find another means of disposing of sewage . . . possibly a costly tie-in with the San Francisco Sunset district sewage treatment plant.

Wilson said he expected all preliminary plans for the sewage treatment plant could be completed by about September, 1951. This would mean a bond election shortly afterwards, with work starting on the plant early in 1952.

Site for the plant will be just north and west of Westlake at the end of the main pipe line that feeds Daly City refuse into the sea.

Two Year Job

Formation of the new sanitation district concludes almost two years of inquiry into the problem of sewage disposal by the city council.

In August, 1949, R. A. Klassen, city engineer, made a report in which it was suggested that the city's answer seemed to be a tie-in with the San Francisco Sunset district sewage treatment plant. This was abandoned when San Francisco dictated terms as to rental of the plant which would have been overly costly to Daly City residents.

It was also noted at that time that it would cost some $250,000 for a two mile forced pump line to the Sunset plant.

After this survey it was concluded that the only feasible step was construction of a sewage treatment plant in the Daly City area.

No estimate is available as to the individual cost to residents of building a plant. However, it is expected that the unit will be paid off not by taxes, but by a fixed rental charge on sewage disposal of so much per month.

NICKEL IN NON-FERROUS CASTINGS

The greater output of castings, together with the undiminished use of nickel in gear bronzes, pressure castings an dbearing bronzes, accounted for a large consumption of nickel in the non-ferrous casting field during 1950.

Another Story

However, it is another story when the army steps in and fairly rules that reporters can not use the word "retreat" in any of their stories; must not "embarrass" the United States, and must not injure the morale of our forces. Those found violating any of these regulations are subject to trial by court martial.

Outside of smelling strongly of dictatorial tactics, this type of censorship is the opposite of what those men in Korea are fighting to defend. What happened to freedom of speech? And do the same rules apply to soldiers who, for example, are heard using the word "retreat" or uttering familiar gripes about food and work that might injure morale?

Brass Jitters

It appears from here that some of the top brass is suffering from a case of jitters brought on by more than one tactical mistake in the field. And like any man who is in error they want to keep it quiet.

Although far from being a military expert, it is our assumption that the quickest way to lose any war is to hide the facts from the "folks back home." If we are being beaten, let every one know it. If this means booting out some of the generals, let us boot . . . but hard. We'd like to see a score of red faced generals reduced to privates any day, than witness a thousand privates underground because of a general who wants to hide his incompetence behind military censorship.

We hope the mothers and fathers of the privates in Korea yell loud enough to kill the censorship before it kills their sons.

Daly City's Police Station was invaded by an "enemy" the other evening. Before Police Chief W. W. Sunderland had everything under control he had almost lost half his office. Seems a well meaning officer had picked up two lost kids, 3 and 4 years old respectively, and brought them to the station for identification. They were identified all right, but before their parents picked them up they had made an effort to pull over the teletype machine, tried to break into the arsenal, floated a toy ship in the spittoon, investigated papers on the chief's desk, and generally did everything expected of their age.

Chief Sunderland's only comment today: "You take the kids. I'll take the criminals . . . they are much easier to handle."

TV Data: Now they are experimenting with a special set of glasses to cut down TV set glare. A pair of blinders might be more in order. This would give viewers some relief from the shows that optimistic producers refer to as "entertainment."

Several Daly City Boy Scouts got a glance at the "Daily Worker," official Communist voice in America, a few days ago. A bundle of the vituperative papers was picked up from a local home in a newspaper drive being conducted by the scouts. Chance are they came from the home of a good American. Editors of the "Worker" freely admit they would go out of busines if it were not for curious Americans (many Republicans and FBI men included) who read the sheet. But the Scouts don't mind. They hav turned over the "Worker" along with hundreds of copies of the "Examiner" and "Chronicle" to a junk man whose only interest in newsprint is the weight and value as scrap. Scouts say they will be glad to take any number of copies of the "Daily Worker," although it doesn't bring the price of larger newspapers . . . seems the "Worker" doesn't have the number of pages, and consequent weight, of its more worthy brothers.

YOUR RED CROSS NEEDS HELP

The Red Cross needs help.

Don't turn away. The Red Cross won't turn its back on you. Their assistance may not be needed now, but who can know about tomorrow?

In case of enemy attack the Red Cross is expected to assist in the vital task of rendering first aid both to those materially and physically wounded.

None of us hope the Red Cross has the opporunity to perform this particular duty. Still it is comforting to know that such assistance would be available.

It comes down to this . . . help the Red Cross today so they will be in a position to help you tomorrow.

What can you do?

Daly City residents will be called on later this year to give funds to carry on the work of the Red Cross.

Earlier, January 18 to be exact, the Daly City Red Cross will recruit men and women to carry out the funds drive.

You can aid in either, or both of these vital measures.

Won't you help the Red Cross? Those who will are requested to call The Record, PLaza 5-4321 for further information.

DON'T HELP THE UNDERTAKER

Daly City had another air raid warning last Friday.

This will come as a surprise to about 80 per cent of the residents. The other 20 per cent only know because they were standing within a block of the four whistles and sirens that whispered the danger call.

We wonder when the city is going to wake up to facts . . . the present system is completely inadequate.

The city, and the public, had best awaken soon. If things continue this way, one morning there won't be enough people around town to bury those killed in an air raid. That will be the air raid staged by the "enemy," and not the civilian defense heads in city hall.

San Francisco's city government has had enough sense to install adequate sirens and other warning apparatus. Surely Daly City can absorb a little of this good sense.

Around city hall they say sirens will be too expensive. Wonder if any of those gents have priced a first class funeral lately?

Wake up Daly City. Let us have adequate air raid warnings.

THE SHAME OF YOUR DALY CITY LIBRARY DEMANDS IMMEDIATE ACTION

Three months ago the city promised to do something about the shameful conditions in the Daly City Library.

It was brought to their attention by this paper that present facilities are not only inadequate to handle adult reading, but that the children's room is nothing short of a humiliation to the parents of Daly City.

Looking into the situation, several of Daly City Parent Teacher Associations promised to back a campaign to help the libary. This flopped.

You, Mr. and Mrs. Public, showed no more interest in promoting a better library than apparently has the city itself. Still, a good half of the population of this city uses the library every day.

And how about the Girl Scouts? They have requested space in the library for some of their books. How is the library to give them room when there isn't enough square footage to handle more than six children at any one time in the children's section?

And how about the schools? They have requested a certain section of the library be set aside for student reading. Just where do they plan to put the students?

You, and your children, deserve better. Let's see that something is done to enlarge the library today, not next year. There is some $2,500 in the city budget to handle such items, and there is no technical reasons why at least a temporary stop-gap measure can't be employed now.

Write your city council today. Write The Record. Demand action.

County Offices

New Officials Take Over

New faces and shakeups in San Mateo county government were evident this week as November's elected officials took office.

The major changes were:

Earl B. Whitmore, 32, took over the reigns of the sheriff office from outgoing Jim McGrath.

E. Robert Stallings, 34, took over the office of county manager. He is the first to hold this new appointive post, and is responsible to the county board of supervisors.

Score More

James R. Tormey stepped into the elective post of county superintendent of schools which was left open by the resignation of Pansy Jewett Abbott.

In addition, nearly a score of other office holders took over the positions they were elected to either in the June primary or November general election.

The following changes in the sheriff's department, to go into effect over the next few months, have been announced by Whitmore:

1. Those holding special deputy cards and badges will be required to post bond as protection in case the authority is misused.

Changes Made

2. Major changes will be made in the staff, although Walter H. Moore will be retained as chief deputy. Theodore Moudakas will be named as confidential deputy. Deputy Delbert Creeks is to become coordinator of police activities.

3. The old telephone company building next to the jail will be used for the sheriff's staff.

Rate Hearing

Broadmoor Water Hike To Be Aired

A public hearing on the proposed 14 per cent Broadmoor water rate hike will be held at 10 a.m. Monday, January 22, in the San Carlos city hall.

The California Public Utilities Commission has called the hearing on the basis of an application by the California Water Service Company for the increased rates not only in Broadmoor, but in many other Peninsula communities.

Rate hikes by the company are based on the 20 per cent increase in the wholesale price of water charged it by San Francisco, its principal supplier of water.

The San Francisco increases are effective February 1. The California Water Service Co. has asked the same date apply to their requested increase.

CITY EMPLOYE GROUP ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

New officers of the Daly City Employes Association will be installed February 6, it was learned today.

The officers were elected at the last regular meeting of the organization. They include: Mrs. Marion McKaskle, president; George Hopman, vice-president; Mrs. Evelyn Cahn, secretary; and Miss Lorraine de Fanti, treasurer.

The installation will take place in city hall at 8 p.m.

San Francisco's Civic Auditorium was built and given to the city by the Panama Pacific Exposition Company in 1915.

The most important sulfides from which sulfur is obtained are pyrite, pyrrhotote and chalcopyrite.

CONTROLS:
May Be Soon

For the first time, a high government official predicted that general wage-price controls will have to be invoked "to avoid damaging inflation." The official was Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

At a senate finance committee hearing, Snyder said:

"I should say that the situation as it is today, to avoid inflation of a damaging nature, these (general) controls will have to be put into effect."

Alan Valentine, chief of the federal wage-price-control agency, declined to be specific on timing when senators demanded to know what the administration plans to do about rising prices and wage problems.

Valentine told the lawmakers "we must look for and find very soon a plateau where prices and wages are generally in balance. I hope we now are near it."

There had been much private talk about price and wage controls, but this was the first time an official had publicly stated that the time was near at hand. One sad fact must be faced, however. During the past months when it was becoming more and more evident that sooner or later controls would have to be invoked, the administration took no steps to set up the necessary machinery to direct them.

Now that the question is becoming more pressing, there will be another delay while the government mobilizes a staff to direct control activities. In the meanwhile, the small towners of America can expect the price spiral to continue.

A-BOMB:
A Frightened World

A frightened world heard President Truman tell his weekly news conference that the United States would fight on in Korea and would use the atomic bomb if necessary.

Before his remark could be further explained, the capitals of Europe were in an uproar. Fear spread across western Europe like a tidal wave, Newspapers issued extras with black headlines and radio programs were interrupted to put the announcement on the air. Near panic on a world-wide scale was evident for the first time in history.

The President's statement created the impression that he had already given General MacArthur authority to drop the A-bomb whenever he considered it necessary and practical. Some hours later, however a White House statement made it plain that MacArthur had not been given that authority

Although the situation had been somewhat cleared, the question of using the atomic bomb and its status in the event of all-out war caused a wave of discussion throughout the world.

Nearly every country in western Europe went on record against using the weapon. These nations obviously feared retaliation in kind from the Russians should the U. S. employ the weapon in the present Korean campaign.

Within the country the question was also top-most in the minds of every American. Most observers believed the public about equally divided on its use. The main argument for its use seemed to be it is the only weapon available that would prevent a disastrous military defeat in Korea and the loss of nearly 100,000 American soldiers.

On the other hand, Americans in every walk of life pointed out that if we used the bomb the Russians might retaliate by bombing American cities and thus launching dreaded World War III.

Champion

Big Springs Special and his owner, Lloyd Robinson, 19, of Big Springs, Texas, are shown just after the steer won the International Livestock Show's championship. The steer was sold for $12 a pound, bringing the youthful owner $12,300. It was a record price for the show.

PROFIT TAX:
House Passes Measure

By a vote of 378 to 20, the house passed an excess-profits tax estimated to bring in $4,600,000,000 from corporations in 1951. The measure is now expected to pass the senate and reach the White House by New Year's.

No one had expected the measure to get action in the lame-duck session of congress. The Korean crisis, however, made immediate action necessary.

Impact on Economy Feared In Wake of Building Curbs

Regulation X, the new housing credit control bill, could have a serious impact upon the nation's economy if it cuts into home building as drastically as some leaders in the industry fear, American Builder magazine points out.

"The direst predictions are that new home starts in 1951 will not exceed 300,000" says the publication, "compared with 1,300,000 houses being built in 1950."

American Builder, leading periodical of the light construction field, uses official U.S. Social Security records to demonstrate the crushing effect a sharp curtailment in residential building can be expected to have on the country's economic structure.

There are about 60,000 builders in the United States who employ 725,000 persons—a close second to the automobile industry which employs 785,000. For every on-site worker in the building industry it is estimated that three to five persons are indirectly employed in producing the materials used in construction.

"Widespread unemployment in such a large segment of the nation's labor force obviously is not a possibility to be dismissed lightly," observes American Builder.

A blow to small business also is seen by the magazine. Most of the builders are small businessmen, 70 percent of them having seven employees or less. Dealers in building supplies also would be hard hit by a drastic reduction in home building.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Patient Wife

"OUR MARRIAGE, from the very honeymoon, was a complete and tragic failure," writes Mildred Tuttle, from Oswego. "Those are black days to look back to, and we sometimes wonder now how on earth we could have been so stupid and how we ever got through. But I was only 19 when we married, and Louis was a football hero of 23. We were both selfish and spoiled even more than most persons that age, and we began our life together with violent quarrels that very soon seemed to kill any trace of affection we had ever had.

"I had wanted to be an actress, having had success in school plays, and I suppose Louis' trouble was that he wanted to go on being adored by undergraduate girls. Life immediately became serious for us and we couldn't take it.

"My mother died, and we supposed her comfortable home was to be ours. But it was immediately sacrificed to mortgages of which we had not known. Before my first wedding anniversary my baby was born, and I found myself, sick and inexperienced, in a small city flat, caring for a delicate child. Over and over again Louis and I talked of divorce, but circumstances were too strong for us.

Refused a Divorce

"My husband began to drink, and I did, too, and before anything was settled, finances, job, home, and what arrangements we could make if we separated, a second daughter arrived. All this made me so nervous that I spent wakeful nights and distracted days in tears, and my family, once so admiring and helpful, merely reminded me that I was a grown woman, and would make a great mistake if I left Louis.

". . . grief and anxiety . . ."

"But it was Louis who asked for the divorce, he having found consolation in the company of a handsome, healthy, clever girl in his office, a girl who called on me and told me just how I was holding him back.

"Something roused me then, and I absolutely refused a divorce, telling Louis that for the girls' sake we must make a go of it, and promising him that I would do my share to save our marriage. And my heart goes out in pity to any woman who tries this, for of all agonizing circumstances this fighting back for love against a newcomer in your husband's heart is surely the most galling.

"The war came along; Louis went off and distinguished himself; I devoted myself to Sheila and Betty-Jo. Ursula, the other woman, waited for Louis to come back, and he came back to her.

"Then I sent for him. I asked him for one year. I said that after one year I would free him, but that I wanted that one more trial. He agreed, and suddenly we were a gracious, considerate, devoted couple who could laugh at the idea of ever trying to live apart.

Begin with Prayer

"How did that miracle happen? Well, prayer to begin with, for I had written Louis regularly of the children, and always mentioned that I was praying for him and wanted him to pray. Then he had had time to realize what home and children meant. And I had grown up, too, in those lonely years. Now, with twin sons of five to round out a beautiful family, with a new home, with lovely children, with our young ignorant love replaced by deep confidence and devotion, we feel that no matter what comes our first need will always be to be together.

"Ursula? The other woman? She married an older man, quite wealthy, divorced him, and has married again, this time a boy 10 years younger than she is. We don't see her any more. But the reason I'm writing," Mildred's letter concludes, "is to suggest to other impetuous young couples that possibly the apparently unsuccessful marriage is the best chance they are ever going to get for happiness. Perhaps in tearing the present arrangement apart they will destroy something that never will come back."

To which, Mildred Tuttle, I add my heartiest endorsement. What many of our youngsters forget is that the very condition of marriage is a sacrifice of independence, and a closing of doors that have stood open so temptingly to youth. The girl can't go to Hollywood, be instantly picked from the crowd, step overnight into stardom. The boy can't hike to Alaska, build a raft and make for the south seas, buy a jalopy and start with a couple of pals for a tour of the entire hemisphere.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Truman, Attlee Talk Over World Situation; U. N. Soldiers Retreat; Wage-Price Controls Are Hinted

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Communist armies, estimated to total 1,000,000 men, plunged out of Manchuria and smashed the United Nations offensive that was launched to end the war. Pyongyang, capital of North Korea, was lost and U.N. troops retreated southward. Military observers were hesitant to name a probable defense line. One possibility seemed just north of Seoul, capital of South Korea.

TRUMAN-ATTLEE:
For Unity and Peace

Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and President Truman held a series of conferences in Washington during which the leaders of the two most powerful democratic nations discussed the world situation in general and the Korean crisis in particular.

Although no official announcement had been made on topics under discussion, reliable sources said they tried to solve three questions:

1. Should the divided, badly outnumbered, and already reduced forces of the U.N. be withdrawn from Korea as soon as possible, or should they remain and try to fight it out?

2. Should the western powers, if they withdraw or are forced out, then carry on a naval and air blockade of Communist China in an attempt to make the governing of China by the Communists as difficult as possible, or should they reject such a course as an interminable and fruitless operation and choose instead to divert their forces to the defense of Europe and/or southeast Asia?

3. Is a combination of these two courses possible? For example, would it be possible to arrange, through India or the U. N. a ceasefire at the 38th parallel, with a view to seeking an honorable solution, and, if no such solution is offered, then carrying on a limited war against Red China?

Observers were also quick to point out that the meeting of the two was further designed to show the world that Britain and the United States were united in purpose.

Many observers put the problem facing the President and the Prime Minister this way: To get peace on honorable terms if they can, but to continue to punish aggression if they cannot, without becoming involved in a general war with Red China and without getting too many of their forces pinned down in the far east.

The two men were said to agree on one point, that Europe, not Asia, is the decisive theater of operations.

PRICES:
Hit New High

The government's cost-of-living index soared to a record high of 174.8, meaning 174.8 per cent of the 1935-39 price average.

A seasonal decline in meat prices failed to halt the general upward surge in the cost of things that enter into a family's living costs. Apparel and house furnishings led the way, but all major items in the family budget joined the climb.

The increase brought automatic pay boosts to nearly a million automobile workers whose contracts are geared to the rise and fall of the monthly price indicator. Millions of other workers, however, find only a greater strain on the weekly pay check.

Middle income groups in the United States, especially the white collar worker whose wages are not tagged to a cost-of-living contract, are feeling the pinch of increased prices.

Wealthy Red

Frederick Vanderbilt Field, center, wealthy New Yorker, indicted for contempt of congress, confers with his attorneys, Harold Cammer, left, of New York, and Joseph Forer, of Washington, D. C. Field was indicted for refusing to answer questions before a senate foreign relations subcommittee.

KOREA:
Heartbreak Road

The military situation in Korea reached the point where no one would predict what would happen next. The situation was considered serious, and before this reaches print, may be desperate.

Military observers throughout the world were asking themselves if another Dunkerque was in prospect? They wanted to know was it possible, or even practicable, to attempt the establishment of a new defense line?

But several bitter facts could not be denied. United Nations forces in Korea were in full retreat. Pyongyang was evacuated and the retreating army jammed the road to Seoul, endless columns moving bumper to bumper. The road up the peninsula had been bloody, the one back was heartbreaking.

And as much as the free nations of the world hated to admit it, the Communist armies of China had demonstrated to the world they could march where they wanted to in the face of stiff resistance. General MacArthur estimated that China had thrown as many as 1,000,000 men into the campaign.

Military observers said it appeared the Chinese were determined to destroy the eighth army. If Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander, decided to stand and fight at some spot in South Korea, the U. S. army would face the greatest odds in its history.

Most observers admitted frankly that such a stand would be almost impossible against overwhelming odds. And a defeat would mean the loss of the entire eighth army.

The only other possibility was a beachhead like the one at Pusan, with artillery, planes and ships putting up a wall of steel from behind which the eighth army could be evacuated to Japan.

BOMB SHELTERS

Congress Gets Shelter Building Plan

The administration asked congress for an appropriation of $3,100,000,000 for building bomb shelters and to finance other measures in the mobilization of the nation's civil defenses.

James J. Wadsworth, a top official of the civil defense administration, said nearly two thirds of the money would go for "communal-type" shelters, designed for protection against atomic warfare. The federal government proposes to match the expenditure of cities and states on a dollar-for-dollar basis in the construction of bomb shelters.

Wadsworth told the senate-house atomic energy committee, that to do less might well result in no shelters or in shelters completely inadequate to cope with the atom bomb.

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY

By Bernice Hendryx JUniper 4-6449

Those street lights that Bayshore has waited for so long are finally beginning to make their appearance along the streets. Some twenty odd lights are to go in here.

Some have been installed, and as we understand it, some of them are just temporary installations, but these will eventually be replaced with permanent fixtures. Temporary or permanent, they still give light, so it's all to the good. I won't look a gift horse in the mouth, but a stray thought keeps rearing its head. We have begged for these lights for a good long time, and just now, when it loks as though we may soon have dim-outs again, we get all our extra lights. It hard but its fair. Anyway, they help a lot now.

Car Swiped

Johny Hampton's Shell Station at Geneva and Bayshore had more than its share of excitement last Friday. A Shell Co. automobile was parked at the side of the station last Friday afternoon, and about 1 p.m. the employee of the company who had driven the car in, prepared to leave. Sure enough, there the car wasn't. Someone had cooly slipped behind the wheel and drive the car away.

But stick around folks. That isn't all. After the excitement died down, things went back to normal. Red, the attendent, prepared to finish the day out quietly. At four o'clock that afternoon, a car drove up, and a fellow invited Red to share the wealth. The lone bandit made off with $125 from the till. To date, the authorities have not caught up with the fellow.

Navy Calls

Two more of our Bayshore boys have entered the service. Richie Dietrich of 1021 Schwerin St. became a Navy man at noon on January 3. Ralph Percival of 223 McDonald Ave. also enlisted in the US Navy last week.

Earl Frank, Cubmaster in Bayshore, is now recovering from a touch of bronchial pneumonia. Up and at 'em Earl.

The Bayshore Baptist Church is to have a celebrated visitor. William Stroh, the tall, humerous singing evangelist is spending two weeks in the valley, and he will be present at evening meetings every night from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. The dates are from January 14 to 28, and Mr. Stroh will bring the morning and evening messages this Sunday. Turn out for the first day folks, and make him welcome.

There will also be children's meetings every afternoon, from 4 to 5 o'clock. Also, for the benefit of those who enjoy morning doings, there will be Bible classes from 10 to 11 every morning.

First Aid

For those who are interested, Balboa High School is being used on Monday and Wednesday evenings for First Aid classes. If things haven't changed, it requires 20 hours to get your basic course certificate. I believe these classes cover a two hour period, so that would mean 10 lessons.

We are hoping that before long we can have Red Cross bring us First Aid classes in the valley. Not too much has been said about this yet, but it is about time that Bayshore woke up to the fact that if we are to have any Defense program, we are going to have to do something about it ourselves. A few steps have been taken, and a few inquiries made that may eventually lead to a sound defense program, but it is going to take cooperation from every one of us here.

Blood Mobile

We told you last week that plans are afoot to get the blood-mobile out here in the valley. The Campfire Girls first thought of the idea, and it has caught on among a number of residents. The Red Cross has been contacted, and they feel that it would be a very worthwhile project.

The requirements that Bayshore must meet, in order to get the Blood-mobile, doctors, nurses, etc. to come to Bayshore are few. We must have twelve beds, six feet long, and hospital height. We must have one hundred people that have pledged themselves to give blood.

We think that we have the problem of the beds licked, and it only remains to get enough people to offer their blood to the boys at the front. The Red Cross wants to see that we have a respectable part of this one hundred pledges before they will set their wheels in motion to set a date for us. They have told us that they will come in the morning, and remain throughout the day, and into the evening, for as long as is reasonably necesary. This will give the men that have day jobs a chance to donate.

Any and all of you that are interested in this project, and feel that you would like to offer your blood donation, call me at JU. 4-6449, or call JU. 4-2984, and leave your name. You will be contacted, and told more about it. The organizations in the valley will be contacted also.

It is felt that at least fifty pledges will be necessary before a definite date will be set by the Red Cross for the project.

Taste-Teasers

By NANCY COOK—ANS Features

Parties are such fun . . . why not give a big one soon? Now don't back away and say, "I love parties, but they're too much work," because they needn't be. Plan to serve buffet style and keep your refreshments simple. No need to spend endless hours preparing fancy foods that leave you too tired to enjoy your own party.

A big buffet refreshment table calls for a big cake, and we'll wager you'll get hubby a raise when the boss and his wife taste this one. It's made with two packages of cake mix—one for white cake, one for devil's food. Just add milk, mix and bake according to package directions. It doesn't take more than five minutes to get either one ready for the oven. Put out by the makers of Swans Down Cake Flour, these mixes give you a downy-textured, delicious triumph every time.

The cake pictured has two layers of devil's food with one layer of white cake between, put together with a creamy seven-minute frosting. There'll be an extra layer of white cake (each package makes two generous eight-inch layers) which you can cut in half, frost with chocolate frosting, and serve for dessert the next day.

Homemade candy is another way of getting compliments galore. This, too, need not be a time-consuming chore for we've discovered a wonderful recipe for super-smooth chocolate candy, using Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk—a rich creamy blend of milk and sugar—that makes candy making quick and easy.

Smooth Chocolate Candy

MAGIC TRUFFLES

1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
⅓ cup PLUS 1 tablespoon sweetened condensed milk
Pinch of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla or imitation rum extract

Melt chocolate, without stirring, in top of double boiler over rapidly boiling water. Remove from heat. Add sweetened condensed milk, salt and flavoring; stir only until blended. Turn into container lined with wax paper. Chill in refrigerator until firm (about 2 hours). Turn out of container. Remove wax paper and cut into pieces. Store in air-tight container. Makes about ½ lb. Nut Variation: Reduce flavoring to ¼ teaspoon. Add 3 tablespoons ground nut meats after flavoring.

MAXIMUM CAPACITY

In order to cope with the extraordinarily heavy demand for nickel, International Nickel, world's largest producer, maintained its production at maximum capacity in the past six months. This was only possible through a development and expansion program to provide greatly increased underground ore facilities to replace open pit ore, depleted during World War II. The broad mining development and expansion program has entailed expenditures in recent years of some $90,000,000, of which over $40,000,000 has been spent since the end of World War II.

CCPT Meeting

Education Finance To Be Discussed

Financing of education, child care centers, and aid to needy children legislation will be three important issues on the agenda of the Board of Managers of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, when it convenes in San Francisco, Bellevue Hotel, January 10 to 11. Mrs. Edward T. Walker, of Los Angeles, president, will preside.

Special committees have been studying these issues over a period of months and have been working with the agencies involved in order to enable the Board to come to an informed and intelligent decision.

Civilian defense problems, including deferment of personnel working with children and youth, will also come up for discussion at next week's Board meeting.

During the past two weeks, hundreds of telegrams have gone from Parent-Teacher groups to California Congressmen in Washington requesting the 82nd Congress to pass the Public Health Services Act HR 9914 as a national defense measure. Support of this bill, comments Mrs. Walker, is the most important way in which, at this point, Parent-Teacher members can assist in providing protection for our children and civilian population in case of an emergency.

Shade Grown Plant Introduced

Finding plants for shady places is often a problem, especially when the search is for something different or new.

A novelty from Western China, the Sarcococca Ruscifolia has proven highly successful for shade planting at the Strybing Arboretum in Golden Gate Park.

This is a low, evergreen shrub of considerable density, with small, glossy, green leaves, and small, strongly scented, white flowers followed by small berries which are at first red, lated turning a deep, shining black.

Though related to the well known boxwood, the Sarcococca differs by producting berries and in other characteristics. The name refers to the "fleshy berries" which is it Greek meaning.

The Sarcococca plants are available in the better nurseries or may be grown from cuttings or seeds. It will thrive and fruit in even rather deep shade, needs no special care, and is deserving of consideration where shade plants are desidered.

"RECORD" REMINISCENCE

New Items Appearing In The Daly City Record 10 Years Ago

Drive Launched To Raise Funds For Scholarships

A nationwide fund raising campaign to establish scholarships and an industrial education and training program for Indians living on California reservations will be launched this month by the Indian Welfare Foundation of California.

The program is part of a long range plan to rehabilitate the 24,000 Indians living under impoverished, sub-standard conditions in the state, due to remoteness of facilities for education and job training. Its long term objective is to bring the new generation of California Indians up to the same educational standards and technical and industrial capacities as other residents of the state in order to achieve complete assimilation into the economic and cultural life.

Directors

All the directors of the Foundation are Indians who have had the fortune to achieve higher education and won success in their economic undertakings.

The president, Grady L. McMurtry, member of the Cherokee Tribe, who served as an officer in the armed forces in World War II, is studying for his doctors degree in political science at the University of California, and is president of the Society of American Indians; Ernest L. Godfrey, vice-president, a member of the Karuk Tribe, was raised on the Hoopa Reservation, is a graduate of San Francisco City College and is a watchmaker and jeweler-maker; Betty Sanderson, secretary, is the well known soprano of the San Francisco Opera Company; and Juanita Poulton, treasurer, a member of the Mono Tribe is president of the Four Winds, Indian unit of the Y.W.C.A.

Special Talent

At the present time there are approximately 8,000 Indian children of school age and 100 who have demonstrated such special academic talents as to recommend them for higher education scholorships.

A fund of $250,000 is necessary to finance the initial stage of the program for which the coming fund raising drive is planned.

The drive is to be carried out by volunteer workers who will be formed into honorary tribes in the 52 California counties and the principal cities.

Endorsed

The Foundation's program has the endorsement of the state's leading educators, health and welfare authorities, labor leaders, chambers of commerce, California State Senate, directors of the Federal Bureau of Indian Affairs and industrialists who will aid the program on advisory committees.

One of the state's leading public relations counsellors, Lykke-Wilkin & Associates, will direct the fund raising campaign.

California residents who desire to join the honorary tribes which will be organized in their counties and communities to conduct the campaigns are requested to communicate with the Indian Welfare Foundation Headquarters at 681 Market Street, San Francisco.

With a quota of 28 men to fill, it appeared unlikely today that the Daly City-South San Francisco draft board would be able to furnish the required number of draftees for compulsory military training on January 20.

Ductile Iron, a product of International Nickel's research laboratories introduced early last year, has made good progress in 1950, emerging from the pilot plant stage to become an accepted engineering material. It is estimated that the output from licensed foundries for the year 1950 will be between 15,000 and 20,000 melt tons compared with 3,500 tons during 1949.

Men's Fashions From the WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT

By LYNNE LAWTON

Women's Fashion Coordinator of the Fashion Bureau

TODAY'S WOMEN can give invaluable hints on grooming to the men in their lives. The country's best dressed women believe that a woman's lack of attention to her man's wardrobe is downright negligence. In the field of entertainment, Mary Healy and Peter Lind Hayes, one of NBC-TV's most charming husband and wife comedy teams—team their talents as well on Peter's wardrobe—and as a result his studied casualness has aided him in career, appearance and comfort.

Mary Healy and Peter Lind Hayes of NBC-TV "PETER LIND HAYES SHOW"

MARY LOVES WHITE, particularly white dresses or suits to set-off her colorful scarfs. She feels that white is just as important in Peter's wardrobe as her own because white coats or slacks look so well with today's colorful sport shirts and other accessories. Here he wears a Palm Beach white sport coat and dark slacks. "Peter learned the importance of an appropriate wardrobe the hard way," says Mary. Several years ago he sneaked down to the exclusive Greenbriar Hotel, for a bit of relaxation and a lot of golf—without benefit of planning. The Duke and Duchess of Windsor were enjoying a stay there at the same time and the day Peter arrived was the night of the formal ball in their honor. Being unprepared, Peter hurried around looking for evening clothes and the golf game unhappily had to be shelved. At the fatal hour, the orchestra leader came to the rescue with the loan of the right clothes and all went well—but his relaxation had to wait until he got home."

Peter may not admit it, but since Mary, like many of us, has become her husband's fashion consultant he doesn't have quite so many style problems.

Fire Department

Another Member Joins The Force

Another member joined Daly City's new regular fire department this week.

He is Henry Weisner, 35, 54 Parkview, former PG&E lineman. Weisner is one of the 16 eligible candidates from which earlier four firemen had been chosen for permanent positions. Three weeks ago he had rejected the city's offer of the job, but upon further consideration decided to take the position.

This brings to five the number of men in the department, excluding Elmer Kennedy, the chief. One more man is needed, and he will be chosen by a civil service examination to be given later next month.

The full time department will go into operation here January 16.

Sheridan PTA

TV Shows Examined By PTA Members

Nierni, Second District music chairman, sings with the Mothersingers, and will be glad to give you any additional information. She can be reached at JU. 4-6996.

NICKEL IN ALUMINUM BRONZES

Widely recognized has been the function of nickel in imparting high strength and hardness to the aluminum bronzes, as well as contributing to their corrosion-resistance. The high resistance to heat and wear of these alloys has established their position in aircraft construction for such parts as valve guides, valve seats, rings and bushings.

Gen. Pershing PTA

First Aid Class Opens January 18

The General Pershing PTA announces the starting of a First Aid Course for their membership, at the Wednesday afternoon Parent-Teacher meeting.

These classes will be conducted by Dean Wood of the Daly City Police department and Emergency Ambulance Crew.

Instruction will begin on January 18 in the General Pershing School basement. The course will consist of nine (9) lessons, of which one a week will be given. The time will be from 7 to 9 p.m.

The evening meetings give the men as well as the women a chance to attend.

Newsettes are being sent home by the school children with further information.

If you are interested and did not receive a notice will you please phone Mrs. A. W. Lauffenburger, PTA president, JU. 7-2867.

Mrs. H. S. Holcomb, Honorary Life Membership Chairman, explained the meaning of a Life Membership award. At this meeting names of worthy persons eligible for such a gift were submitted.

The names were received by ballot from each attending member and placed in a box, to be opened and voted upon by past Life Members at the next Executive Board meeting held, in the General Pershing School, January 25, at 1:30 p.m.

It is hoped that three Life Memberships may be given this year, at the Founder's Day meeting on February 6.

A skit is being planned for this event, fitting in the theme of everyday PTA life.

All past presidents, charter members and life members are invited, as well as all regular members.

Did you ever go some where and have something very tasty served and wish you knew how it was made?

A solution to this has been started. Every one has been asked to type on a card her favorite recipe, cover with clear cellophane and bring to the meetings, to be sold for a dime.

Mrs. George Keil, parliamentarian, spoke of the value of Parliamentary Procedure. A wealth of information was given to everyone and many doubts cleared in the minds of the audiance.

YOUR NEW SOCIAL SECURITY

By E. J. FOLEY

Under the new social security law, the term "employee" has been redefined. Under this new definition approximately 400,000 persons will be brought under social security through this extension of occupational coverage.

On January first, a full-time life insurance salesman will begin building toward old-age and survivors insurance benefits. So will agent or commission drivers engaged in distributing meat, vegetable, fruit or bakery products. Agent or commission drivers engaged in laundry or dry-cleaning services will come under social security. Also, those distributing beverages (other than milk).

Both traveling and city salesmen, working on a full-time basis, are brought under the new social security law. This will not include, however, a salesman's sideline sales for some other person.

To be covered by the new social security in these occupations, the worker must perform the services individually, and he must not have a substantial investment in the business for which he is engaged as a salesman or distributor. Moreover, a person engaged for a single sales or distribution transaction would not be covered. The worker must be employed continuously to be eligible for social security coverage.

Home workers, that is, persons who do the work not in a plant or a factory, but in their own place of residence, are now covered by social security also. The work must be done according to specifications furnished by the person for whom the services are performed, and that employer must supply the material or goods on which the employee works at home. This kind of work is subject to regulation under the law of the State in which the home worker lives.

The meaning of "currently" and "fully" insured status will be the topic of my next article.

Court St. Mary

Women Asked To Join CDA

Opening the new year with a membership drive, members of Court St. Mary No. 1155, C.D.A., this week called for additional Catholic women to join their organization.

The only qualification for joining the Court is that the prospective member be a good practical Catholic. Women will find in these troubled times that this charitable organization will help them many times over in their spiritual needs.

The membership chairman, Mrs. L. P. Lachini, can be reached by calling Juniper 4-2768. Prospective members may also call Grand Regent Mrs. Richard J. Ennis at JUniper 7-5200.

MRS. R. J. ENNIS HOLDS PARTY FOR C.D.A. FRIENDS

On the evening of January 5, ofifcers and chairman of Court St. Mary's Catholic Daughters of America were bid to the home of Mrs. Richard J. Ennis, Grand Regent of the Court, to a holiday party.

After an entertaining evening, playing games, the guests were seated to a delicious buffet supper, with the tables artistically decorated in multi colored holiday tapers and greens.

Guests present were:

Mesdames Fred J. Wettstein, Rose McNab, Geo. Rode, L. P. Lachini, Arthur Heyden, R. McDunough, Hans Schroeder, G. W. Ryan, J. W. O'Sullivan, Anthony S. Parmisano, Clara Scally, Dorothy Stewart, Christine Stevenson, Bernard O'Connel, F. McDermott.

Student Speaker Contest

Jefferson High To Participate In Annual Lions Club Oratory Test

The annual 1950-51 California-Nevada Lions Student Speakers Contest is under way, with Stanford Hannah, of the local club, in charge.

The topic this year is AMERICAN VOTERS' RESPONSIBILITY.

Arrangements have been made for the participation of students from Jefferson High School. Miss Eunice Seaton has been appointed as the official coach.

Scholarship

A $1000 cash scholarship is offered to the ultimate winner at the District Convention in Stockton in June, when all finalists are to be presented with typewriters of current model and standard make. The Fred Smith travelling trophy is also presented to the winning high school annually. To date, high schools possessing this trophy have been: Modesto, Ontario, Anaheim, Tulare, Sunnyvale, Huntington Park, Notre Dame, S.F., Boulder City, San Rafael, Las Vegas, Glendale, and Dorsey, L. A.

Participation

It is estimated that 14,000 students participate annually in the initial stages of the Lions Student Speakers for Democracy Contest, since many schools submit the topic for essay work to the entire enrollment of their sociology and English classes. Because the subjects presented deal with problems vital to the survival of the United States as a free nation, it is believed that participation in the Contest, even on the lower levels, constitutes invaluable training for future democratic leadership. In the course of the Contest, the high schools of two states are carefully combed for talent.

It is expected that the Contest will be held at a date to be selected before the Christmas holidays. Prior to this event, a new $2000 technicolor film, showing the 1950 finalists in action at San Diego, with State Superintendent of Schools Simpson awarding the $1000 prize check, will be shown locally.

Colma PTA

Healthy Bodies Equal Healthy Young Minds

By MRS. MARJORIE HOPPER

After quietly celebrating, the Colma PTA comes into the New Year with a full and busy agenda.

The first thing to start with was the Sectional meeting of the 17th district, held at Jefferson High School, on January 8.

Tuesday, January 9, at the Colma Community Center on Dunk Street, the general meeting was held. After a short business meeting the Honorary Life Membership committee gave a report and the election of the Nominating Committee was held.

Miss Marie Traynor, Principal of Jefferson Elementary School and the Parent Education chairman, showed an interesting twenty minute film, "Pictures In Your Mind," dealing with the international relationships.

Miss June Gross, The Jefferson School District school nurse, gave an interesting talk.

Mrs. William Chessman, chairman of the Honorary Life Membership committee tells me that her committee met on January 4, at her home.

On January 16, at the home of Mrs. H. H. Kern, 1424 Sweetwood drive, the Sewing Group met. All of you ladies that would like to sew a stitch or two will have a nice surprise. If you wish to attend, please call her by Monday evening at PLaza 5-2126, telling her if you wish to attend.

Local Woman's Mother Burned

Termed by hospital authorities as being in a serious condition today is Mrs. Thornton, mother of Mrs. Fisher, 961 Hanover, who suffered third degree burns last week.

Mrs. Fisher, a resident of Redding, was smoking in bed Thursday. She went to sleep, and the lighted cigarette ignited the bed clothes. Her husband who was working in the back yard at the time of the incident, noticed smoke pouring from her bedroom. Only his quick action in putting out the fire saved her life.

A few hours after Mrs. Thornton was taken to a Redding hospital, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher left their Daly City home to be near Mrs. Fisher's mother.

Today Mrs. Fisher and her children are in Redding, praying that her mother will soon recover.

When you drop flat, hide your eyes in the crook of your elbow. That will protect your face from flash burns, prevent temporary blindness and keep flying objects out of your eyes.

After an air burst, wait a few minutes then go help to fight fires. After other kinds of bursts wait at least 1 hour to give lingering radiation some chance to die down.

To prevent radioactive poisoning or disease, select your food and water with care. When there is reason to believe they may be contaminated, stick to canned and bottled things if possible.

In the confusion that follows a bombing, a single rumor might touch off a panic that could cost your life.

Keep This Until You Have Memorized It

This is Cliff Knee. In inspecting "Super Inch," Cliff walked 1500 miles—three times its California length. Plans for this largest diameter pipeline ever built for transmission of natural gas began six years ago, and the new line has cost 63 million dollars to build! You have to plan ahead, and raise large sums of money, when you have more than a million customers to supply with gas 365 days a year.

"Super Inch" has gone to work

...and it's good news for you and your neighbors!

Of course, completion of "Super Inch" Pipeline is big news to everybody—twice as many people in California use twice as much gas today as was necessary ten years ago—what gas is left in the State no longer can meet the ever increasing requirements of growing California.

To assure our customers a continuing ample supply, we went nearly halfway across the continent to Texas to secure a supply of natural gas that just started flowing through "Super Inch." Adequate gas and electricity enable communities and industries to grow, mean new jobs, larger payrolls. And P. G. and E. gas rates, as well as electric rates, are among the lowest in the nation.

Now meet a few of the folks who helped build and finance "Super Inch" and some folks who use the gas it brings from Texas...

Here's Dr. Woodrow Coale, Stockton dentist and former mayor of the city. Dr. Coale, along with nearly 170,000 others, has invested part of his savings in P. G. and E. stock. Through this investment such huge projects as "Super Inch" may be financed so that plentiful, low-cost fuel is assured in growing Northern and Central California.

Parking Meters

Some Object, But New Innovation Generally Approved By Residents

Parking meters are proving a pain to some local merchants, but on the whole have been well received in Daly City.

That was the consensus today of several officials and individuals contacted in a survey to determine what effect the newly installed parking meters have had on local residents. The meters went into operation in the business district here January 2.

Some Complain

Of five business men contacted on "top of the hill," three expressed disaproval of the meters, while two admitted they "were pretty good."

"Since they have gone into operation, business has dropped off for me," one professional man noted. "I believe it is because people aren't going to park where they have to pay." He pointed to the meters in front of his store.

This typical complaint was answered by one pro-meter resident who observed: "There isn't a business district in San Francisco where there are not meters. They don't seem to be driving away business."

A Daly City police officer noted that the majority of complaints he had heard came from merchants who no longer could park all day in front of their place of business, or who were belabored by salesmen who asserted they had to drive blocks to "get away" from the meters.

Two sides

On the other side of the picture, it became evident this week that for the first time in years it is now possible to find a parking place in the main business district. Merchants who favor the meters are quick to point out that with more parking space there comes more customers.

"It's no problem to shop now," one housewife said, "Before the meters, it was impossible to find a place to park anywhere near the stores."

General Approval

Employes of the Daly City water department, where hundreds of residents visit each day to pay bills, assert that they have heard many favorable comments on the meters. The approval was based, again, on now being able to find a place to park. These same employes say they have not heard one single complaint from the public at large.

The city judge, who receive fines for meter violations, reports he had heard only one major complaint against the meters. These come from residents on streets adjoining the business section where the meters have been installed.

"We can't park in front of our own homes without putting money in the meters," several have complained.

Generally the parking meters have been accepted as a real boon to Daly City, and oficials expect the few isolated objections will die out as the meters become a part of regular city activities.

FRAGRANT SMOKE

Where There Is Smoke You Won't Find Fire

It was a quiet Sunday afternoon on Muirwood drive when one of the local residents on that street spotted smoke pouring from a home on Hillside boulevard.

Rushing to her phone, the lady called firemen.

Within minutes the local blaze busters roared up to the home of Sam Pusatero, 113 Hillside boulevard. They, too, spotted the smoke, and were uncoiling the fire hose when Pusatero put in his appearance.

"What's all the excitement?" he asked.

Firemen indicated the swoke.

"Oh, that," Pustatero said, shrugging his shoulders," "That's nothing but smoke coming from my barbecue pit. Cooking a steak, you know."

The hose hoisters put away their fire hose, and along with Pusatero returned to their respective Sunday dinners.

Miller Awaits Jail Sentence

Awaiting sentence for an unsuccessful jail break from the San Mateo County jail the day after Christmas is Robert R. Miller, 19, of Daly City.

Miller's sentence was delayed two weeks while the probation department makes a report on him to Superior Judge Murray Draper. Sentenced for burglary, he is being held for the State Youth Authority. He pleaded guilty to the jail break charge.

Three of his five other companions also pleaded guilty, and were sentenced to San Quentin. The not guilty plea was entered by David Patton, 21, who during the weekend set fire to his jail mattress and had to be placed in a strait jacket. Daniel R. Heaney, 23, also entered a not guilty plea.

Judge Draper ordered the two men be given a sanity test.

Rent Controls

Office Answers Rent Questions

Continued public interest in rent control was revealed by a sharp increase in inquiries during December at the area rent office, Rent Director William A. Bledsoe reported today.

The year-end rush helped roll up a grand total of 98,693 citizens who personally visited the local offices at 180 New Montgomery Street. Another 89,394 received telephonic answers to their questions on rent problems, Bledsoe said.

Overcharges

A feature of the year was recovery for tenants of $271,848.44 in rent overcharges. Bulk of this money, Bledsoe explained, came through informal "compliance conferences" with landlords, resulting in settlements totalling $150,325.64 paid to tenants. The remaining $121,522.80 was obtained through Federal Court judgments secured by the Housing Expediter's attorneys against 193 landlords. In addition, $34,104.88 was ordered paid into the U. S. Treasury by landlords.

Landlord's Turn

Landlords, too, had their innings, as indicated by approval of 6,704 petitions for rent increases, representing 89.3 per cent of the applications received. Affected were 19,802 units, on which ceiling adjustments averaging $6.17 per unit were granted on the basis of higher taxes, operating costs, individual hardships and other permissible grounds. These figures represent the ordinary workload for 1950 and do NOT include the "25 per cent program."

25 Per Cent Increases

From October 2, 1950 (Marin & Sonoma County 25 per cent increase went into effect on this date) to December 25 in the counties of San Francisco, Marin and Sonoma, landlords petitioned for the 25 per cent increase on 70,165 units. Of these, 84.3 per cent or 59,124 units were granted increases. The collective ceiling of $2,567,731.14 per month was raised to $29,941,334.20 per month or an increase of $373,603.06 per month. This resulted in a 15.5 per cent increase over former rents—amounting to an average of $6.31 per unit.

Marine Returns

Sgt. Dave Hansen Home From Korea

Sgt David Hansen, USMC, is back in Daly City today on leave from fighting on the Korean front.

Sgt. Hansen, who was a member of the Daly City police force until he was recalled to the Marines last year, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee O. Hansen, 146 East Vista.

He was returned to the "states" after treatment for wounds he suffered while making the initial landing with the Marines on the Inchon beachhead.

A few feet ashore, Hanson was blown into a hole by a heavy enemy shell. The force of the concussion injured his ankle, and he was shortly on his way to the U. S. Naval Hospital in Yokosuka, Japan.

Sgt. Hansen's future plans are indefinite, although it is possible that due to his injury he may soon be released from the Marines to reurn to duty with the Daly City police department.

The Napa River is navigable for vessels of 12½ foot draft.

Blood Donors Needed

SET DALY CITY DAY AT BLOOD BANK

A Daly City Blood Donor day at the San Mateo County Blood Bank has been scheduled for Friday, February 16, between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Mrs. W. E. Hobbs, 8 Risel avenue, and Mrs. Hugh S. Falconer, 103 Village Lane, are Co-chairmen for Red Cross recruitment of donors in the Daly City-Colma area.

Appointments may be made locally by calling JU. 7-9792.

"The need for blood for our men in the war zone is extremely urgent," Mrs. Hobbs said. "An average of 4 pints of blood is necessary for every wounded G.I. One boy had to have 60 pints before he could be moved to a hospital.

"Some 600 pints of blood must be procured by the San Mateo County and Sequoia Chapters of the Red Cros in January. Last month we fell short of our quota.

"We must make it this month. I urge every one between 18 and 60 who is physically able, to make a date to give a pint and save a life."

Civilian Defense

All Residents Asked To Register With City; First Aid Classes Planned

Gearing for all out civilian defense mobilization, Daly City took major steps this week towards that final goal.

Mayor Paul Green announced that Red Cross first aid courses will begin in the very near future at Jefferson High school; all residents will be asked to register with the city; a new table of organization for defense is to be set up shortly, and all nurses will be asked to register.

Registration

Beginning February 1 every resident in Daly City will be requested to register with the city. This will be done by sending residents a double faced post card. They will be asked to fill out the information on the card, and return it to the city.

The Mayor explained the registration will be an effective method of keeping a record of the number of persons living in the area in case of an air raid. It will also furnish valuable information to district and section civilian defense leaders.

The cards will be mailed to all those now using city water. Anyone who does not receive a card by March 1 is asked to contact the city.

"We hope the people will cooperate with this effort," the mayor said today. "It is being done for their protection, and for no other reason."

Nurses Called

In addition, all nurses and those trained in home nursing are requested to register at once at the mayor's office in city hall. This may be done either in person, or by letter.

No definite date has as yet been set for the Red Cross classes, Stanford Hannah, Jefferson High school superintendent, said today.

However, he noted he would "get together" with the mayor later this week to arrange the time and day for the classes.

Mayor Green said the first classes would be aimed as a refresher course for those already familiar with first aid.

"Our big trouble is a lack of qualified instructors," the mayor noted. "Hence, we hope from this first class to gain enough instructors to teach others who wish to learn first aid."

Call Mayor

Anyone who wishes to take this first class is asked to contact the mayor's office, PLaza 5-0850.

Classes for beginners will be given shortly after the primary course for instructors, the mayor said. He also pointed out that Police Officer Dean Wood is now giving, and has completed several courses in first aid for members of the various PTAs.

Meanwhile, Dr. Theodore Paoli has been named medical director for civilian defense in Daly City. He will coordinate all medical activities of the city with the joint county-city civilian board.

Lewkowitz Named

Joe Lewkowitz has been appointed Red Cross coordinator for all civilian defense measures here.

Promise of a well cordinated civilian defense staff was forthcoming this week with the announcement that the city will soon pass an ordinance setting up such an organization. This ordinance is a model one based on a state approved plan. It was received last week in Sacramento by the mayor and Councilman Jim Kennedy who attended the League of California Cities civilian defense meet.

"We've been waiting for this ordinance for several months," Mayor Green noted today. "And now that we have it, we will waste no time in using it as we best see fit for Daly City."

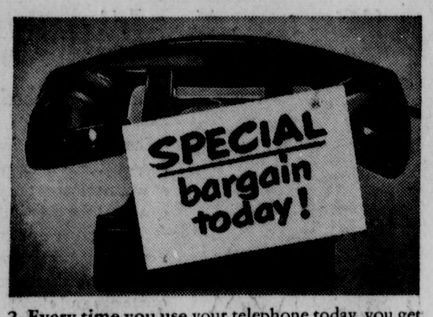
A mighty good friend of the family budget, your telephone offers more service than ever—at bargain rates.

WHERE EVERY DAY IS BARGAIN DAY

Your telephone gives you more for your money than in 1940

1. When you buy almost any of the things you use every day, it seems that the prices you pay have just about doubled in the last ten years. But this pattern of inflation doesn't hold true with your telephone. For in spite of higher costs of furnishing telephone service—wage levels that have doubled, materials that have shot up sharply—telephone rates have increased far less than the cost of living.

2. Every time you use your telephone today, you get a most unusual bargain. Two ways. Rates have lagged far behind the increased prices of most other things. And the amount of telephone service they buy has practically doubled. Today, on the average, you can be connected with twice as many telephones as ten years ago. You can call more of the people you want to call. More can get in touch with you.



3. In these days, when our nation needs a strong and efficient telephone service to help speed the job of defense, that service is available—and at bargain prices. And you can be certain that all of us at Pacific Telephone will keep right on working to build your telephone's value still more—to make it a still better servant for you. And for our nation.

Daly City Library News

NEW CHARGING SYSTEM INAUGURATED

By LORRAINE DE FANTI

Effective January 10, a new charging system will replace the old signing-out method at your Daly City library. Now installed is the Gaylord Electric Automatic charging machine which when in full swing will make for maximum efficiency in book charging. Each active borrower will be issued a card with a numbered plate attached to it. This card is placed in one slot and the book card is inserted into a curved shute. Automatically the borrower's number and the date are printed on the book card. Plain book cards are used instead of printed cards, and date cards replace the conventional date slips.

Actually the only major change on the part of the borrower in the new process is that he must remember to always present his card when he desires to take out books. These cards are expensive, and borrowers are advised that they will be charged 10 cents each time a lost card must be replaced.

This compact machine insures rapid as well as accurate charging. Although converting over to a new system always involves difficulties at first, in the long run this change will mark a definite step forward in library practice.

The machine was purchased for the library by San Mateo County, not Daly City.

It is hoped that all borrowers will cooperate with the staff to insure the success of the new system.

All Activities

At the last meeting of the year of the Association of Children's Librarians of Northern California, the assembled librarians were once again privileged in having a successful authoress as guest of honor, in the person of Marion Garthwaite.

Following the regular book review session, Mrs. Garthwaite told the Christmas story, and then answered questions about her new book, "Thomas and the Red-headed Angel." Then Miss Ida Beebe, former secretary, showed many interesting slides of pictures she had taken at various A.C.L. functions throughout the year.

After the meeting was adjourned, many of the members joined Mrs. Garthwaite at a dinner given in her honor at the Colonial Manor.

New Oakland Public Library

On January 7 the dedication ceremonies for the new Oakland main library afforded an excellent opportunity to tour the newly completed edifice.

The function which was under the auspices of the Native Sons of the Golden West proved to be interesting and informative. Master of ceremonies was head librarian Dr. Peter Conmy, and principal guest speaker for the day was Gov. Earl Warren.

The new structure is certainly a positive indication of the city's growth, as well as a valuable contribution to the library field. Modern design is featured throughout the $3,375,000 building. At present it consists of three floors, but it has been built to support two additional floors when future needs deem that step necessary.

New Trend

In keeping with the modern trend the reference function has been broken down into subject divisions thereby greatly facilitating the finding of specific subjects. Special features include among many others a California Room or local history center, and a delightful Youth Room for teenage activities.

Of particular interest to the writer was the children's department. In this new library, which incidentally commands a picturesque view of Lake Merritt, boys and girls have a spacious and separate room where they may, along with their peers, become familiar with the vast world peopled by their storybook friends. This department is under the supervision of Elvezia Lorenzini, personable and congenial children's librarian. Miss Lorenzini is another illustrious member the A.C.L. may boast of.

Seeing such a beautiful new library building cannot but make one hope that someday in the not too distance future, Daly City, too, may be the home of a library that the community can be proud of, and which will adequately accommodate and keep abreast of the ever growing population.

Korean Report

INTASCHI TELLS OF CONSTANT MOVES

A first hand report of the heartbreaks and toil of the U. S. Marines in Korea was forthcoming this week from Commissioned Warrant Officer Joseph E. Intaschi.

Intaschi, 33, 476 Santa Barbara, was called back into the Marines last July. Before donning his uniform for the second time, he was employed as city maintenance man.

Writing from Masan, Korea, New Year's day, Intaschi gave a brief resume of his adventures to date. The letter was addressed to Mayor Paul Green. It read in part:

Inchon Attack

". . . I was in the assault landing at Inchon . . . went all the way to Seoul. After securing (was going to say liberating, but that seems rather a question now) Seoul, we were loaded aboard ship and moved to Wonsan, and from there to Hungnam.

"I had the misfortune of being amongst the Marines surrounded on the Chosin plateau. I was sent up in the mountains with a fleet of bulldozer tractors to haul supplies to our outfits near the Manchurian border.

"Our biggest and worst enemy was the weather. Besides worrying about "Chinks" on our four sides, we had to keep from freezing to death. The temperature ranged from 2 to 20 degrees below zero. Me, for the nice warm Daly City fog.

Simple Work

"We made out O.K., though. When ordered to move back we just turned our tractors around and came out. Simple, ha? After walking along side of those tractors for 30 miles over roads that were impassable (a 21 hours march) we arrived back at Hungname.

"Next day we loaded aboard ship, and here we are at Masan for a rest (?) and rehabilitation.

"We have ben in Korea nearly four months, and it has been a constant move. God only knows what happens next, I gave up trying to figure this war out.

"Well, Paul, give my regards and best wishes to everyone . . . anyone desiring to drop me a line can get my current address from my wife.

"Best wishes, although somewhat belated, fo rthe New Year to everyone."

SPORTS

OFF THE RECORD

By Roy Hurlbert

Peninsula Athletic League basketballs start dropping through the nets for keeps today with the opening of the 1951 race.

Coach Mike Orlich's Jefferson varsity couldn't meet a tougher inaugural test. The Indians tangle with a veteran Sequoia five in Redwood City, the logical bet to win the league crown.

Sequoia is loaded with four holdovers from last season's championship team and according to reports, can do wrong against her PAL comrades.

Orlich makes no bones about his club's chances in this year's hooping. He hasn't got the material to breathe on the necks of the contenders.

Les Nicolini, a driving guard, is Jefferson's lone first-string repeater and he will be lost in mid-season via February graduation. Frank Hartje, a little guy who can make points, also will be gone early next month with a diploma in his hand. Take away a team's guards at the half way mark and it's enough to ruin any quintet.

Hopes High

The local mentor hopes to get his varsity unit off to a smooth start before Nicolini and Hartje are forced to call it quits. Orlich looks to Les and Frank to hold the club together. Both are hustlers and Orlich's other boys need the confidence inspired by the pair.

Center Jack Burgerstrassen, a six-four junior, and Forwards Al Johnson, Charles Firth, Dave Cafferata, Owen Charles, et al will carry the load for a full-season.

Jefferson's varsity has captured but ONE PAL victory in the last two years. The Indians would settle for two or three this time and consider it a good season. At least a couple of wins would be an improvement.

30-20

Coach Joe McGrath's 30s are strictly upper-division. They might wind up somewhere near the top. McGrath has the makings with Forwards Don Wilson and Larry Blanchard, Center Dick Moquin and Guards Angelo Caloiaro and Fred Thompson.

Moquin, a 20s standout a year ago, was the top gunner in practice tilts, followed closely by hard-trying Blanchard, another lanky comer.

The 30s combination have worked together for some time. Most were teammates on Jefferson's 10s and 20s in bygone days.

Another Story

The writer couldn't let this item go unnoticed. Among cage talk being circulated up and down the coast is a true story stranger than fiction.

Seems as how down south in Los Angeles there's quite a unique high schol basketball team. It's the Jefferson High Democrat outfit of the L. A. city prep league. The Democrats are running wild. To date they are the hottest court contingent in the state. In 14 games Jefferson of Los Angeles is unbeaten, and never threatened. They've averaged 86 points a game in their spectacular streak.

But their unsullied record needs some explanation. The Democrats average six-five and a half per man—yes, reader, almost six-six each. Their center is a junior telephone pole at six-eight. They call a man small if he stands under six-four. Hmnnnn. And these kids are still growing!

Jefferson of L. A. claims the title of the "Junior Harlem Globetrotters." They should. The entire school population is Negro. There should be enough college basketball scouts on the Jefferson doorstep at graduation time to overflow the Rose Bowl.

Laundry Time

Ah ye. We picked California to take Michigan by one touchdown. The Bears did. In the first half.

Your writer isn't ashamed that he called the Kentucky win over Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Clemson came through, also, as was forecast here.

Texas, our Cotton Bowl pick, had Tenessee's volunteers on the run for a time, but the Longhorns ran out of gas.

No more grid predictions for another nine months. The business doesn't pay off. Not with us.

Trampled Roses

The Pasadena show gave sportswriters a lot to squak about. Pro and con. Field goal or no.

A friend of ours, Mr. Francis M. Errota, dean of southern California? Not at all. Pappy Waldorf thing that the post-mortem journalists failed to mention. Errota called attention to the off-performance of California's All American guard Les Richter, the Fresno Oak. On more than one occasion (and too often) Errota pointed out, Mr. Richter was knocked on the seat of his pants at his linebacking post by one Leo Koceski, one of Michigan's many good backs. Each time, Don Dufek, a top fullback, busted through for big gains. It certainly was a new twist for Richter, who had no peer on defense all year.

Was this just one man's opinion? Not at all. Papy Waldorf removed Richter a while in the second half. In the dressing room, the Bear T-tutor allowed as how he missed Richter's usual sharpness. Big Les may have been weary from double duty (both offense and defense) but he wasn't up to par.

The Michiganders were, so blame the winners for Cal's second-half retreat. Richter's slip, too.

Ten And Out

Lee Oma, an old man with young ideas of becoming heavyweight boxing king, face reality tonight in Madison Square Garden. Cincinatti Ezzard Charles, the-long-time-in-being-recognized champion, will defend his crown at 15 rounds. Oma should hit the canvass by the eighth round.

Charles wants to be a busy champ. If he keeps defending his treasure, people will have to acknowledge his worth.

At present, Charles is a lot better than most folks want to believe. Joe Louis respects the prowess of his successor. The Brown Bomber may not have the last laugh.

Citation To Race At Bay Meadows Spring Meeting

Trainer Jimmy Jones' announcement that Citation will race at Bay Meadows' spring meeting gives Northern California turf fans a strong possibility of getting to see the first horse in history reach the million dollar mark in purse earnings.

The San Mateo track's lush stakes program of 18 handicap totaling $255,000—the richest ever offered in the bay area—affords the Calumet star an excellent chance of gaining the $61,370 he needs to reach his goal of one million.

Citation at present is the leading money winner of all time with $938,630 to his credit and is regarded by numerous turf authorities as the greatest thoroughbred since Man O'War.

The news that Citation definitely is slated for Bay Meadows was received with much elation by General Manager William P. Kyne, who returned this week from the south to resume preparations for his de luxe meeting, March 13 to May 5.

For several months Citation has been recuperating from a minor leg ailment at the Calumet Farm in Kentucky. He will be shipped this month to Santa Anita and put into training for his Bay Meadows campaign. Jones stated he feels certain the horse will return to winning form, otherwise he would not be bringing him back to the races.

Two handicap victories at Bay Meadows could put Citation over the top. His main objective here will be to win the $60,000 Bay Meadows Handicap which would net him about $50,000. The spring meeting stakes also include four at $25,000 each and three at $15,000 and the Calumet champion likely will run in one or more of these.

SARTO NINE TRY FOR GOLDEN GATE PARK CHAMPIONSHIP THIS SUNDAY

FOSTER TEAM EXPECTED TO GIVE SARTO BOYS TOUGHEST GAME OF YEAR

No one is giving odds, but the fastest, best game of the year is expected this Sunday at Golden Gate Park when the Sarto nine take on Fosters for the park championship.

Game time is 2 p.m., and when the ninth rolls around Sarto's lads hope to have taken the championship. But it won't be an easy win. Not too long ago Foster took the Daly City team to the proverbial cleaner by a neat score of 8 to 2.

However, this time the local lads believe they are ready. A big asset is fielder Gene Kleenger who had displayed time and time again that he knows how to use a bat as well as a glove.

On the mound for Sarto will be Don Mossi, with Tito Sarto scheduled as relief pitcher.

The Daly City team won its right to try for championship crown last Sunday when they downed Les Vogel by a tight 3 to 1.

Two of the three runs were brought in for Sarto in the first inning. Fritz Simms was on base when Don Lunghi faded with a bunt, beat the bunt to first and saw Simms to second. A moment later Lunghi swiped second while Simms went to third. At this juncture "Big Gene" stepepd up and drove a long one into center field. Lunghi and Simms crossed the home plate to drive the Sarto boys ahead by two runs.

It was static until the seventh when Les Vogel managed to bring one player home.

The final run was made in the eighth when Mossi got a double, followed by a double by Lunghi that in turn brought in Mossi.

As for the pitching, Mossi held Vogel down to five hits and gave up two walks. Vogel did twice as "well" with 10 hits and three walks.

Achievement Awards

Bank Of America Offers Senior Students More Than $16,000 For Scholastic Skill

More than $16,000.00 in cash will be awarded senior students in public and private Northern California high schools this coming spring semester as a part of a Bank of America sponsored, educator-civic leader conducted, Achievement Awards program.

The cash prizes, in addition to over 2600 certificates and trophies, will be awarded for scholastic achievement, promise of future successes and service to society, and will represent one half of a statewide allocation for the program by the financial institution.

Purpose

Purpose of the program is to stimulate and encourage students in their academic, vocational and citizenship training, and at the same time emphasize the importance of individual achievement on the part of the average student.

In Northern California the program will be participated in by approximately 325 schools in 48 counties north of Tulare and Kern. Nine counties touching San Francisco Bay, and encompassing 117 schols separated into six zones, will form a San Francisco Bay Area Counties group. The remaining 39 counties with 208 schools in nine zones will form a Northern Counties group. After the school and zonal competitions, final selection events will be held in both Sacramento and San Francisco in late May.

Basis of Choice

Basis for a school's selection of candidates for the program in addition to the already named prerequisites will be proficiency in 11 specific fields of learning. Eleven students for this primary selection competition will be chosen in each school, with those selected receiving Achievement Awards certificates. Four of the most outstanding students from among the 11 specific field selectees will be chosen to represent their schools in 15 zone contests which will be held near mid-term in widely separated communities from Bakersfield to Redding.

Final Phase

Basis for the zonal contests will be proficiency in four general fields—made up of the combined 11 specific categories. These general fields are: Science and Mathematics, Fine Arts, Liberal Arts, and Vocational Arts. Thirteen hundred students, approximately will be in competition at the zone level of the program, with 60 finalists emerging from the 15 contests to compete in the two Achievement Awards day finals at Sacramento and San Francisco.

During the final phase of the program which will be presided over by educators, civic leaders and public officials, eight $1,000.00 first place prizes, eight $500 00 second place prizes, and eight $250.00 third place prizes will be awarded. Eight $100.00 fourth place awards, and 28 additional awards of $50.00 will also be donated by the bank.

MOTOR VEHICLES IN THE UNITED STATES

A grand total of 48,480,000 motor vehicles were registered in the United States at the end of 1950, according to the National Automobile Club. Representing an increase of 3,810,000 motor vehicles over 1949, this total comprised 39,-710,000 passenger cars, 8,550,000 trucks, and 220,000 motor buses.

When driving along on the open road always cut down your speed before entering a curve, advises the National Automobile Club. A little too much speed can easily lead to loss of control, and loss of control usually ends in serious accident.

Power Finance

Shata-Keswick Plants Swell Fund

Record power production at Shasta and Keswick power plants during the months of December swelled the Central Valley Project's return to the United States treasury by more than one million dollars, Richard L. Boke, regional director for the Bureau of Reclamation, revealed today.

"Fed by flood waters stored behind Shasta and Keswick Dams, the huge hydroelectric generators were running above rated capacity for half the month," Mr. Boke said. "The two plants produced a total of 303,609,000 kilowatt-hours of electrical energy, or three times the amount required by the City of San Francisco during an average 30 day period.

"For extented periods during the month, the two plants operated at outputs of approximately 515,000 kilowatts. During that time they contributed 40 per cent of the entire Pacific Gas and Electric Company system energy requirements. The total December output was equivalent to the generators running continuously at 91 per cent of their full rated output."

Virtually all of the energy produced was sold to the P.G.&E., which will pay to the government a December power bill of $1,106,385. These funds will be used largely to help repay construction costs of the Central Valley Project as well as operational expenses.

HOW'S YOUR PARKING

Ever take a look at the right front tire as a yardstick of your steering in parking? If you have done well, points out the National Automobile Club, the lettering on the tire sidewall will be intact. If not, you will find it pretty well erased. Rubbing the tire against the curb is one of the best ways of shortening the tire's life, for the sidewall is made of a lot less tough material than the tread.

Fish Planting

SALTON SEA STOCKED WITH FISH

More than 1,000 ocean fish seined from the Gulf of California have been planted in California's Salton Sea as the result of a December expedition made by the Division of Fish and Game.

From San Felipe, Mexico, where water conditions parallel those of the Salton Sea, a crew of the Bureaus of Marine Fisheries and Fish Conservation removed surf smelt, perch, and other small fish species with the aid of nets. The fish were placed in aerated tank trucks and speeded to the inland Sea.

Third Operation

The operation was the third in recent Division of Fish and Game efforts to establish game and forage fish in the State's largest lake. Approximately 7,000 Mexican fish, mostly anchovettas, have been transplanted since 1949.

District Biologist Willis A. Evans, who headed the latest expedition, believes there's a good chance that the desert-bound lake will some day provide good fishing.

"Such a project requires time," Evans stated, "and it will be several years before any sport fishing will be possible, even if the experimental plantings are successful."

Big Search

"During the spring of 1951," Evans continued, "an intensive search and test seinings will be made to determine what species of the introduced fishes have survived, and if any have sucessfully reproduced. We will then plan our future course in this interesting project."

Establishment of a small forage fish, or food for larger game fish, is the first step in making the Salton a fisherman's oasis, Evans explained. He said no large game fish species have been planted which might jeopardize the establishment of forage fish.

Dog Trouble

Canines Suffer From Heart Worm

Heart worm—a disease fairly prevalent in dogs in the southeastern states—is becoming common in California, according to Dr. T. J. Hage of the veterinary clinic on the Davis campus of the University of California.

Brought into the state during the past few years by dogs already affected with it, heart worm is now being found in animals that have never been out of California.

In a few cases symptoms resemble those of elephantiasis in people. While the organism causing this disease may be located in various parts of the human body, the adult worm is found usually in the heart of dogs.

"The disease is vector-borne; the mosquito is a known carrier," said Dr. Hage. "Investigations now in progress may disclose other means of transmitting the ordinarily fatal disease."

In experiments with new drugs, the University veterinarian has had good success with caricide, developed during World War II for treating elephantiasis in human beings. In contrast to drugs formerly prescribed, this one does not seem to produce any toxic side effects.

LARGEST LIME TREE

The largest lime tree in the world is growing at El Cajon in San Diego County, according to the National Automobile Club.

Angling Valhalla

Lake Merced Gets 5,000 Big Trout

Lake Merced, the angling valhalla in San Francisco's back yard, has just received its first preseason planting of 5,000 catchable-sized trout, the Division of Fish and Game reports.

The December stocking operation will be followed by additional plants from the Division's fish hatcheries at Elk Grove and Napa.

In its first year as a trout fishing lake, the City auxiliary water supply produced rainbows averaging 12 inches in length. An abundance of fresh-water shrimp in the lakes is believed the reason for rapid growth of trout.

Bowling League

Central Club Takes Top Spot

Central Club keglers this week took the lead in the Daly City Merchants Bowling league.

The Central Club retook the top spot, but winning the odd game from the Daly City Eagles at the same time the Colma Lions were dumped thre straight by the Foresters.

New Judge

Bocci Takes Office Thursday

One of the youngest judges in California, and the youngest in San Mateo County, Thomas Bocci Jr., 28, 10 Village Lane, Broadmoor, took office today, January 11.

Bocci was sworn in for a four year term as judge of the First Township (South San Francisco). He won the position in the June elections when he defeated Judge R. A. Rapsey. Rapsey had been appointed to fill out a six months term left vacant when Judge John Fahey resigned last January.

Bocci, a former member of the firm of Fahey, Bocci and Galen, now has his own law office in Daly City.

JANUARY MOST DANGEROUS MONTH

January is the most dangerous month in the year for pedestrians, warns the National Automobile Club. Wet and icy pavements that make it difficult for motorists to shop, blinding rain or snow, and longer hours of darkness, all combine to give this month the highest death rate for pedestrians.

SF To Honor Printing Industry

San Francisco will honor one of its most important industries—the multi-million dollar printing industry—this week (Jan. 14-20) which has been designated Printing Week.

The week-long observance, which is held annually near the aniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, America's first great printer, will be advertised by posters designed and executed by two students of graphic arts at City College of San Francisco. Special exhibits have been arranged in libraries, book stores and schools illustrating the progress of printing as a craft and an art from the handpress of Franklin's days to today's modern high speed presses.

The local celebration is sponsored jointly by the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen, the San Francisco club of Printing House Craftsmen, the Employing Printers Association and others. General chairman of this year's celebration is Harold C. Pond of the Harry W. Britnall Co.

Printing annually brings a payroll of $55,000,000 into the city and is second only to food processing among San Francisco industries.

Dimes Drive Chief

Heading the nationwide March of Dimes, January 15-31, is Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Citing severe toll taken by infantile paralysis in past few years, Mr. O'Connor urged all Americans to join the crusade against polio, only epidemic disease still on the increase in the United States. This will be the 14th successive year that Mr. O'Connor has headed the annual polio fund campaign.

Asphalt Gives Wind-Tight Roof In Gale-Swept Areas

Roofing material used on barns and other farm buildings should be fire resistant, must be able to withstand all kinds of weather and still be economical to apply and maintain. Designed especially to meet these requirements is 19-inch selvage edge roll roofing.

This is an asphalt roll roofing which comes in strips 36 inches wide. Seventeen inches of the width is mineral-surfaced, and only this portion is exposed when the material is applied on a roof. The mineral-surfaced part of one strip lays over the 19-inch selvage or unsurfaced part of the sheet below it.

Application of this type of roofing is particularly recommended for barns. The barn usually is situated on high ground to facilitate drainage and, consequently, is fully exposed to the wind. The roof also is subjected to high internal wind pressures which develop when barn or haymow doors are open. Such pressures frequently are strong enough to damage a weak roof deck or poorly applied roofing material.

When asphalt strip shingles are used on a barn where high winds may be expected, a daub of quick-setting cement the size of a fifty-cent piece should be placed under the center of each tab. This will prevent the wind from getting underneath the tabs of the shingles where it can damage the roofing.

Heating Plant Requires Care

Although modern heating systems will produce more heat at lower cost than those available just a few years ago, they still will not perform at peak efficiency without some attention.

Now is the time to make certain that your heating system is in good order, says American Builder magazine, so that you can depend on it to keep your home warm and cozy when the really cold weather comes.

Have you checked on the condition of your furnace, or had your chimney cleaned? Regardless of the type of fuel used, the heating plant itself should be cleaned every year and adjusted in order to produce the maximum amount of heat.

The building industry publication points out that fuel bills increase when heating systems are neglected. Therefore, careful inspection should be made of the equipment even though it seems to be performing satisfactorily.

HOW TO DO IT

Replacing Broken Handle

This method of replacing a broken hammer handle is suggested by American Builder magazine. Buy a small bottle of glycerin. Soak the new handle in the solution for one week. After removing it from the solution, file the handle carefully with a rasp so it fits the head tightly. Drive in the handle to the point marked on the illustration. Heat the hammer in an oven until the head is hot, then drive the handle all the way in and wedge as usual.

Fruit Cake for the Hostess

HOSTESS HOLIDAY CAKE—For your easy entertaining this holiday season. Here's a light cake, packed with fruit and flavor. It comes in three and five pound sizes in attractive metal containers—at your favorite grocers.

Keynote of the holiday season is entertainment. This is the time of year when friends drop in and easy informality is the theme. It's a tradition to serve fruit cake, of course. What could be better than a wonderful light fruit cake you can now get from your favorite grocer and called, very aptly, the Hostess Holiday Fruit Cake!

Golden and mellow is this fruit cake—crammed with pecans and fragrant with plump glaced cherries, raisins and juicy cubes of sun-ripened pineapple. It's a delicious cake, rich with butter. Attractively packaged, the Hostess Holiday Fruit Cake comes in metal, airtight containers—easy for shipping as gifts. There are two sizes—the three pound cake for small families and a five pound size for the hostess who entertains a lot.

It's moist for long keeping—this cake. And you can keep it indefinitely when you store it airtight in a cool place. A piece of cut apple placed in the container will help your cake retain its moisture longer.

Good any time, you can serve your fruit cake in small wedges with tea or coffee for an informal snack. In dainty finger length strips it's a perfect accompaniment to ice cream as dessert—and with that holiday egg-nog, it's wonderful.

Medicine Men Smart

Modern Medicine Not Far Different Than Practiced By Aboriginal People

In some respects "Modern medicine is not far different from that practised by aboriginal peoples, especially in the medicinal materials used and in the magical effects expected from their use.

This was indicated in a report on "The contributions of South American Indians to our modern pharmacopoeas" read recently before the annual meeting of the American Anthropological Association on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

Research

Results of research by Clarence E. Smith, senior Museum Preparator in the Anthropology Department on the Berkeley campus of the University of California, pointed to the fact that rational use of medicines by aboriginal people is more extensive than usually recognized. This rational use of the remedies was in spite of the irrational ideas the Indians had as to the causes of disease.

For example, the Indians might use an evil-smelling, foul-tasting or brightly colored concoction on the theory that it would be unpleasant enough to drive the evil spirit responsible for the disease out of the sick person's body. Very often then native medicine produced a beneficial emetic or purgative action and was prepared from a substance now used in medical practice for these same beneficial purposes.

Native Drug

The native concoction not only induced favorable psychological attitudes but served "to eliminate toxic substances in practice as well as theory, thus fulfilling physiological functions corresponding to desired magical results," Smith pointed out.

In addition to the many preparations used both by natives and by "civilized" medicine, for their purgative, diuretic, emetic or sudorific effects, the Indians had a variety of medicines which they used correctly for treatment of catarrhal diseases, malaria, pinworms, tapeworms; others used as tonics, counterirritants, antidysenterics, anesthetics astringents, antiscorbutics, stimulants, ophthalmics, and balms.

Proper Use

Proper application was made of substances acting to restrict or increase menstrual flow; an antipasmodic was employed in cases of some kinds of snake bite; and substances causing sneezing and sweating were among the many others reported by Smith as used in native practice.

FROZEN RADIATORS

Complete water drainage is necessary to prevent damage when your car is lift outdoors overnight in freezing weather, advises the California State Automobile Association. Besides opening drain cocks, the radiator cap must be removed to drain water from engines having pressure-type cooping systems.

The original county seat of Calaveras was at Double Springs.

Legal Advice

Vets' Problems Answered In S. F.

Plans were in motion today for the setting up of a clearing house where servicemen passing through or stationed briefly in San Francisco can receive free legal advice on their problems.

Suggested by Mayor Elmer E. Robinson in letters to the Bar Association of San Francisco, the State Bar of California and the Lawyers Club of San Francisco, the program would be similar to one during World War II in which lawyers volunteered their services.

"As San Francisco is a point of departure for many men going overseas, there is here a field of endeavor in which your organization could perform a very valuable public service," the Mayor wrote each of the organizations.

George Lieberman, Bar Association of San Francisco president, said a three-man committee had been named to cooperate with the Mayor's Office and the legal authorities of the Army and Navy on such a program.

James C. Shepart, chairman of the committee on war work of the State Bar of California, said the committee will have the function of integrating on a statewide basis the suggestions contained in the Mayor's letter.

VERSATILE ALLOY

Monel, an alloy of approximately two-thirds nickle and one-third coper, is widely used for all purposes involving resistance to corrosion, wear and temperatures up to 1000°F. Applications ranges from motor boat shafting to laundry and chemical equipment.

Every June 3, Monterey celebrates its birthday with a colorful fiesta.

Rummage Sale

Auxiliary Wants Donation Of Items

Donations for a rummage sale to be held by the American Legion Auxiliary Broadmoor Post No. 824 were asked today.

The sale will be held at 2188½ Sutter street, near Grove, January 18 to 20 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

In order to make the sale a success, many items are needed, Mrs. Ray Logan, chairman, said today.

Such things as costume jewelry, clothes, perfume, furniture, and any other similar items will be welcomed, Mrs. Logan said.

Those wishing to donate articles are asked to call Mrs. Logan at PLaza 5-4556.

All money from the sale is to be used by the Auxiliary to further the work it is doing in Broadmoor.

YOUR TELEVISION USES NICKEL

The huge expansion of the television industries of the United States and Great Britain has brought a greater demand for nickle and various nickel alloys. These materials find extensive applications in various components of both transmitting and receiving equipment.

NICKEL STEELS FOR MACHINE TOOLS

The machine tool industries of the United Kingdom, Germany and Switzerland are requiring larger amounts of nickle alloy steels to meet the exacting demands for high strength, toughness and general reliability in the world-wide demand for up-to-date equipment.

UNIQUE PROPERTIES

The unique combination of properties of Ni-Resist, a nickel-containing cast iron—resistance to heat, corrosion, wear and erosion, and thermal expansion control—has become increasingly recognized in the past year in sea water and insecticide pumps and valves, engine valve guides, steam service, engine liners and glass molds, and for piston ring lands in aluminum pistons.

'I Wanna Go Home'

No cheerful little tearful is two-year-old Gordon Miller, a polio patient at Utica, N. Y., Children's Hospital. But the March of Dimes—through the Herkimer County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis—is helping Gordon back to health and a smiling future.

San Bernardino County has more than 25,000 acres of vineyards.

Polio Down

County Cases Few In 1950

The lowest polio rate in the last three years was recorded in San Mateo county during 1950, Harold D. Chope, county health director, reported today.

Only one death was reported among the 47 persons who were victims of poliomyelitis. In 1949, five of the 66 persons struck by polio died.

The worst months for the disease last year were October and November when eight cases were reported each month.

Three of the seven persons who became ill in December are still in the isolation ward at the Community Hospital.

Save Your Jobless Pay!

BY ROSCOE GRAHAM

(Ed. Note. This is the second in a series of ten special articles.)

Chiseling, fraud, inequities in the present unemployment insurance law already have partially destroyed "merit rating" and may destroy it entirely.

Employers with good records for holding their employees, who last year paid no unemployment insurance tax, this year are paying 1 per cent, through no fault of their own. In future, they may pay the present maximum of 2.7 per cent, or even more.

Because of the shrinking unemployment insurance fund, every employer, regardless of his merit rating, this year was ordered to pay at least 1 per cent of his payroll.

Merit Rating

The way merit rating has worked is as follows:

The contributions of each employer are credited to his "reserve fund" in the Unemployment Insurance Commission treasury.

All unemployment benefits paid out to his employees who stop working for him (prior to getting another job) are deducted from his individual reserve fund, or from the general unemployment fund.

The current balance in the employer's reserve fund determines the rate of unemployment insurance contributions he must pay on his total payroll, for instance from 1 per cent up to 2.7 per cent at present.

Fine Record

But many employers who have a fine record of employment and have not been required during 1948 and 1949 to pay anything, now have to pay although their employment records still are perfect, or nearly so.

This is because chiselers and the inequities in the law have so depleted the fund that the good have to pay for the bad.

This situation is partly the fault of careless, indifferent or frankly dishonest employers.

Many employers, with large labor turnovers, never had paid less than 2.7 per cent. On the basis that they cannot be taxed any higher, they have not tried for a merit rating.

Fail To Answer

These employers do not answer questionnaires from the Unemployment Insurance Commission, do not inform the Commission when employees have been discharged for cause (which prohibits payment of benefits) and do not cooperate in furnishing the Commission with information so that chislers who draw unemployment insurance benefits while working elsewhere, can be traced.

Other employers dishonestly split employees' earning into small segments so the employees can claim partial unemployment and collect partial benefits. This may hold the employees in reserve for re-employment by the dishonest employers when needed, but it drains the fund maintained by honest employers for the benefit of honest employees honestly out of work.

Rude Awakening

A rude awakening for these employer-chiselers as well as some employee-chiseiers may be in store!

Because, sufficient depletion of the fund may result in the present 2.7 per cent maximum contribution being raised. It could go to 5 per cent, or even more, of all employers' payrolls.

Also, an employees' tax of 1 per cent, or more, could be re-instituted.

As stated before, the 1 per cent employees formerly paid for unemployment insurance now goes into the disability insurance fund. It is not likely that the disability fund will be discontinued.

Carry Burden

Therefore, if employers should be unable to carry the burden, a new 1 per cent, or higher, tax could be placed on the employees to help finance unemployment insurance.

This is not a far-fetched prediction.

The unemployment fund had a balance of $552,300,000 at the end of September, reported James G. Bryant, state director of employment.

California's present labor force is about 4,640,000 persons.

Comes the end of war prosperity and perhaps only 2,000,000 of these people are out of employment. At $25 a week unemployment insurance benefits, the fund would be depleted $50,000,000 a week.

Funds Gone

Without additional contributions, the entire fund would be exhausted in 11 weeks.

Of course, there would be contributions during those 11 weeks, but the contributions would only delay the inevitable exhaustion of the fund a few weeks more.

The remedy? To just "soak" employers to keep up the fund? Not necessarily.

Reduce Payments

The present law provides that when the balance in the fund is such that, within six months it will be unable to pay probable benefit liabilities in full, the Commission may reduce or CEASE PAYMENT of benefits.

There was a period in 1930 when employers and the Commission were estimating the date of such insolvency.

So—ALL workers could in future lose unemployment insurance because of chiseling employees and employers.

Some of the weaknesses in the act which makes such a result possible will be explained in the next installment.

Jr. Livestock Show

LACK OF FUNDS MAY KILL ANNUAL FETE

Fate of the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition, held annually during Easter Week in San Francisco's Cow Palace, must be determined by action of the State Legislature, Porter Sesnon, president of No. 1A District Agricultural Assn., the nonprofit State agency which administers the Cow Palace and sponsors the junior and senior Grand Nationals, reported here this week.

The highly successful Junior shows have been financed heretofore, Sesnon said, on a deficency basis out of funds which had accumulated to the Cow Palace during World War II. The State Department of Finance has notified the Board of Directors that unless the 1951 session of the Legislature increases the Cow Palace's annual allotment sufficiently to finance the Junior Grand National, it must be discontinued after its next presentation, March 17-22, 1951.

The 1951 Junior Grand National will be held, however, Sesnon said.

Various groups have already pledged their support to bills which will be introduced to finance the Junior Grand National, said to be the foremost all-junior livestock show in the nation, permanently and specifically.

Among the groups supporting the proposed legislation are the University of California Agricultural Extension Service in charge of 4H Club work, the Bureau of Agricultural Education in charge of Future Farmer of America program, the California Farm Bureau Federation, California Cattlemen's Association, California Wool Growers Association and the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

New Plymouth Combines Beauty and Riding Ease

Detroit, Mich. — Spectacular new qualities which produce driving and riding ease heretofore unknown in automobiles of any price feature the new line of Plymouth cars. Combining smart new body lines with unprecedented interior luxury, the new Plymouth will go on display in dealer showrooms throughout the United States Saturday, Jan. 13.

Designers have given the Plymouth a striking new silhouette, and refinements in the interior are innovations in the lowest price field. The styling improvements retain the traditional roominess of the cars.

Easier to drive and more comfortable, the new cars have greater beauty, more safety features and broader ranges of vision than ever before.

Engineers say the new "Safety-Flow ride" takes the bounce and wallop out of bumps. A new application of hydraulic flow control in the shock absorbers provides a more gradual change of resistance during spring deflections and thus a softer ride when driving on average roads. It also exerts extra resistance on rough roads to a degree where driver and passengers are almost completely freed of the discomfort of being jolted around.

The "Safety-Flow ride" is one of the greatest contributions to driving comfort and safety in recent years, according to D. S. Eddins, president of Plymouth Motor Corp.

"The new Plymouth gives you roadability never before offered in any car," he said. "There is no necessity for steering wheel fatigue to control the car on difficult roads. The driver is no longer required to focus full attention on the condition of the road. He may be more watchful of oncoming traffic, pedestrians, curves, crossroads and other potential hazards."

Eddins called the new development a major step toward restful motoring. More confidence is gained by driving or riding in a new Plymouth with the "Safety-Flow ride," and as a result there is less driver and passenger fatigue, he said.

The lines of the new Plymouth have been beautified. An appearance of massiveness combined with smart streamlining is induced by a new grille, beautifully redesigned front fenders and hood, a wider windshield and a larger rear window. Narrower windshield pillars together with the wider windshield provide additional lateral vision. To utilize fully the greater vision through the new rear window, the rear view mirror is two inches wider. The chair-height front seat and the new design of hood and front fenders permit the driver to see the road nearer the car.

There are numerous mechanical improvements. Windshield wipers are electrically operated, and are of the single-speed, self-parking type.

A unique pressure-vent radiator cap, which has been added as standard equipment, permits the cooling system to be operated at atmospheric pressure during normal driving conditions. Under high-load, high-temperature driving conditions, the new radiator cap provides a pressurized cooling system to allow high coolant temperature without boiling or loss of anti-freeze.

All Plymouth engines now have a built-in by-pass cooling system permitting water circulation and resulting in more uniform temperature throughout the engine during the warm-up period. The new system consists of a passage in the cylinder head and block providing direct access to the water pump, and a choke-type thermostat to regulate coolant flow to the radiator.

The generator output has been raised to 45 amperes, an increase of five amperes, providing greater electrical capacity for the operation of car accessories. The new hand brake "T" control handle is more accessible, and, as on former models, it operates independently of the foot brake as an added safety measure.

In the convertible club coupe, the spare tire is mounted vertically as in other coupe and sedan models, rather than on the trunk floor.

The new Plymouth interiors offer the finest selection of upholstery and trim and the most harmonious color schemes in the company's history. The colors which have been chosen provide throughout the interior a pleasing combination of shades in harmony with the car's exterior color. Designers say the interior is an unparalleled achievement in combining practicality with luxury. Always noted for spaciousness, Plymouth now has even more head room and more room to stretch out in comfort in the rear seat.

To go with the high quality of the upholstery, there is a handsome new instrument panel which features a more convenient grouping of controls, newly shaped instruments and improved coloring and lettering for easier checking while driving.

The wide, deep chair-height seats, the ease of entrance and exit, and all the other traditional Plymouth features for driver and passenger comfort have been retained.

There are nine body-types in the new Plymouth line: the Concord series includes a two-door sedan and a three-passenger coupe as well as the two all-metal utility models, the Suburban and the Savoy; the Cambridge series has a four-door sedan and a club coupe; and the Cranbrook series includes a four-door sedan, a club coupe, and a convertible club coupe.

The Suburban and the Savoy, with their smart, distinctive lines are all-purpose vehicles. They have the beauty and comfort of a sedan, and by simply lowering the rear seat flush with the floor they become sturdy cargo carriers for farmers, salesmen, sportsmen, tourists or others who require large cargo capacity. The Savoy, called the "country-club companion" of the Suburban, provides a greater variety of luxurious interior appointments and more exterior refinements to enhance the car's striking appearance.

Among the "high-priced car" features which are retained are six-cylinder, 97-horsepower engine with a 7 to 1 compression ratio, the combination ignition and starter switch, automatic electric choke, super-cushion tires, safe-guard hydraulic brakes, and safety-rim wheels.

The New Plymouth Cranbrook Four-Door Sedan

Featuring improvements which produce unprecedented roadability and riding qualities, the beautifully redesigned 1951 line of Plymouth cars have numerous mechanical improvements and have retained their traditional roominess. Shown above is Plymouth's Four-door Cranbrook sedan.

Extroverts Have Troubles

EXPANSIVE PERSONAL TRAITS VIEWED

The open, expansive traits of the extrovert, usually thought to be the mark of a well-adjusted personality, are quite often associated with personality difficulties in later childhood and adolescence, according to findings in a long series of experiments carried out by a University of California psychologist.

These findings, reported by Dr. Harold E. Jones, Director of the University's Institute of Child Welfare, are included in a new volume, Feelings and Emotions, published by McGraw Hill.

Many Report

The book, described as "bringing together the most important current theoretical and experimental contributions to the psychology of feelings and emotions," is an international collection of reports from both social and biological sciences.

The University exeriments, made with infants, young children, and adolescents, involved a comparison between outward (extrovert) expressions of emotions, and inward expressions as recorded by laboratory instruments. The results show, Dr. Jones said, that with increasing age a characteristic change occurs in the emotional pattern—a change to more internalized emotional responses.

Change Pattern

This developmental change is a normal accompaniment of good adjustment and when it fails to occurr—when a marked extrovert pattern persists—the child often gives many indications of poor social adjustment and personality difficulties, the psychologist said.

Strangely enough, children who are the most overtly excitable frequently register lowest on the instruments used by the psychologists to measure inward emotional reactions. This low reactivity may be a sign not of unusual poise but of basic distrubance in emotional makeup, Dr. Jones believes.

Smile of Dimes

Smilin' through is Eugertha Mae Hoston, 3, of Washington, D. C. Following an infantile paralysis attack in July, 1949, this little girl spent four months in the hospital and still receives out-patient care. Washington, D. C., Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis aided Eugertha with March of Dimes funds.

"GO NATIVE" say the world's style leaders—by borrowing the colors and patterns of native African tribes for their sport shirts. Palm Beach white walking shorts set off one of these new sport shirtings which is inspired by the patterns used in native African Mombasa cloth. Knee length sox and white Patio-Shell shoes complete the ensemble.

Slow Down

Bad Weather Ups Highway Deaths

Inclement weather and the long hours of darkness combine to make highway travel extremely dangerous in January, the California Highway Patrol warned motorists today.

While rain and fog are the chief weather hazards in California this time of the year, sleet and snow are likely to be encountered in the higher parts of the state, the Patrol pointed out in stressing mental and mechanical preparedness for all driving conditions.

"Slow down!" is the first rule of traffic safety, regardless of the season, according to the Patrol.

"Now, more than ever, speed is the chief killer on the highways," the Patrol continued. "It should be obvious that the motorist can't see as far or as well in rain or darkness—or both, and that he can't stop as fast on a wet pavement. However, too many drivers think they can disregard adverse weather and light conditions, often with tragic results."

Vehicles should be maintained in good mechanical condition throughout the year, the Patrol said, but added that now is a good time to check brakes, tires, chains and windshield cleaning and defrosting equipment.

CD Considers Possibility Of Germ Warfare

Far reaching plans for the protection of the civilian population in the event of chemical and bacterialogical bombing attacks on Northern California cities are being considered by members of the California Defense and Security Corps.

Capt. W. B. Hamilton, 14th Battalion, CD&SC, with Headquarters at the new National Guard Armory, Humbolt and Indian Avenues, San Mateo, is organizing all those experienced in chemical, sterilization and decontamination and pest control agencies in San Mateo County into a specil unit of the 14th Battalion.

Captain Hamilton is himself an expert in agricultural weed control and forsees the inestimable service that decontamination agencies can perform in case of bacterialogical and chemical bombing attacks. Companies such as his are already equipped and staffed to render initial and immediate service in such an eventuality, he points out.

Emerald Bay on Lake Tahoe is said by geologists to have once been a glacial lake.

A monument to the Indian chief for whom Solano County is named stands in Fairfield.

A covered bridge at Felton, across the San Lorenzo River in Santa Cruz County, was built in 1892.

PRUNE CAKE
HARRY'S PASTRY SHOP
Merry Christmas

There are prunes and there are more prunes, but Harry, the happy baker, challenges you to find better and bigger prunes than in his prune cake. "Anyone who can present me with a bigger, better prune can have any of the cakes in the place free," Harry said. "I knows they are the best, 'cause I grows 'em myself. My family has been full of prunes for years. We knows prunes like you knows the color of your sweetheart's eyes." Take it from Harry, his prune cake is mighty delicious. And the price is right.

Fashion Bureau Photo

"IT'S COOL WHITE for tropical suns in winter months . . . and summer suns to come," says J. Wilfrid Gagen, director of New York's Fashion Bureau. At left, for spectator occasions, is a sheer cotton lacquer-red and white shirt worn with navy slacks, Palm Beach white coat and Patio-Shell shoes of white linen. Milady has matched it with a white suit complemented with John Frederics' latest white wool jersey hat and bag, detailed with orange and black wooden beads and his new reversible scarf in bright yellow and white. For active events (right) is the very new Choppas shirt in white, tied with a colorful red bandana neckerchief worn with Java Weave white linen-like slacks.

Metal Drip Edge, 'Flashing Strip' Bar Roof Damage

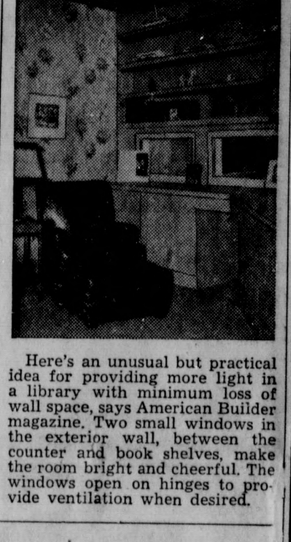
When applying asphalt shingles to a new deck or over an old roof, a metal drip edge and a "flashing strip" of mineral-surfaced roll roofing at least 36 inches wide should be applied along the eaves.

The purpose is to protect the roof deck and interior walls and ceilings from damage in the event the roof drainage system becomes clogged because of ice forming in eaves troughs. The flashing strip, extending 36 inches up the roof, prevents backed-up slush and snow from penetrating the roof deck.

First to be applied is the metal drip edge, made of corrosion-resistant 26-gauge sheet metal. Galvanized steel, painted on both sides, generally is used. The drip edge, two to four inches wide, should be bent down over the eaves far enough to cover the edges of the roof deck sheathing.

Then the flashing strip of heavy asphalt roll roofing is placed along the eaves in such a manner that it will overhang the metal drip edge by one-fourth to three-eighths of an inch.

Provides Light, Saves Wall Space



Here's an unusual but practical idea for providing more light in a library with minimum loss of wall space, says American Builder magazine. Two small windows in the exterior wall, between the counter and book shelves, make the room bright and cheerful. The windows open on hinges to provide ventilation when desired.

Loan Terms Make it Easy to Reroof Home

Credit regulations for home repairs, alterations and improvements remain liberal despite the recent restrictions imposed by the government on loans for new housing.

Actually, it is easier to put an asphalt roof on your home than it is to buy a new refrigerator so far as the credit controls are concerned. A minimum down payment of only 10 percent is required for home repairs and the home owner has 30 months to pay the balance. The minimum down payment for a refrigerator is 15 percent and the balance must be paid in 18 months.

Under Regulation W, which governs loans for home remodeling, the home owner may spend up to $2,500 on a single contract.

The low required down payment of 10 percent plus the long period permitted in which to pay the loan makes it easy for the home owner to finance improvements, thus protecting and increasing the value of his investment. With the tighter restrictions on new housing, it becomes even more essential that existing homes be kept in good repair.

There is nothing complicated about obtaining such a loan. The home owner simply arranges to borrow the amount he needs from his bank or other lending agency. The loan is guaranteed by the Federal Housing Authority to encourage lending agencies to extend loans for remodeling and repairs.

Suppose, for example, a new roof is needed. The chances are an asphalt shingle roof will be selected because it is economical, fire-resistant and colorful.

If the price of the new roof is $350—including the cost of applying it—a down payment of only $35, or 10 percent, will be required. Small monthly payments, little more than $10.50, will take care of the balance of $315, spread over a period of two-and-a-half years.
